Two Yules Rolled Into One

A Merry May Christmas

DECORATING THE YULE tree for her brother, Sgt. Rick Forzano, home from Vietnam, is Barbara Ellen Forzano, 4, who thinks two Christmases a year are just dandy.

By ROBERT POPP

If it snows on Dairy Ln. Thursday, even just a little bit, the day will be perfect. For it will be Christmas, you see, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Forzano for a soldier son who could not be home for Christmas 1967 and will not be at home for Christmas 1968.

Thursday, Memorial Day most everywhere else in the United States, will be Christmas for the Forzanos and close relatives who have traveled hundreds of miles to join in the family observance.

Sgt. Rick Forzano, 19, was serving in Vietnam with the Army Signal Corps when the bells pealed out for Christmas last December. Home on a 45-day leave after a year's duty in the Southeast Asian nation, he will leave in mid-June to serve in Naples, Italy.

SO THE FAMILY decided to roll two Christmases into one on Memorial Day and celebrate the holiday past and the holiday future for their son's particular benefit.

While other families across the nation are donning sports garb and packing picnic baskets and bathing attire, carols will resound through the Forzano home in front of

Object Seen Near Slick, Report Says

Only Clue Yet As To Whereabouts Of Missing Scorpion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today reported the sighting of an unidentified orange object north of an Atlantic oil slick which has thus far been the only clue as to the possible whereabouts of the missing submarine Scorpion and its crew of 99.

Whether this object—spotted early Tuesday somewhat north of the oil slick area—may have been a messenger buoy from the nuclear powered sub was a matter of speculation.

Capt. John F. Davis, who is monitoring the search effort from the Pentagon, said he thought some buoys are orange, but he added: "The Navy isn't supposing anything."

Oil Slick Not Located

The oil slick has not been located, nor has it been linked to the Scorpion. Its location was noted May 23 by a passing vessel two days after the Scorpion sent what turned out to be its final routine message from the Azores.

The oil slick was sighted about 800 miles west of the Azores.

Davis labeled the orange object as a "solitary sighting unconfirmed."

He said a sailor aboard the USS Hydes saw the object about 6:15 a.m. EDT Tuesday but an aircraft overhead was unable to make the same sighting.

More Nasty Weather

Facing more nasty weather today, 40 U.S. Navy ships and submarines and 16 patrol aircraft headed into a third day of searching thousands of miles of storm-churned Atlantic waters.

So far the round-the-clock search has produced not a single reliable clue to the whereabouts of the missing Scorpion.

"We had hoped something would show by Tuesday morning, the day after she was reported overdue," one Navy officer said.

"We're still trying, but we're getting pessimistic."

Capt. Walter N. Dietzen Jr., a submarine warfare expert, told newsmen the Scorpion—whether disabled on the surface or at some survivable depth—should have been able to communicate by Tuesday.

Vodrey Picks Man, 25, For Police Force

Bruce Lee Conkle, 24, of 406 Summit Ln. today was appointed to the police department's lone vacancy by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. The director also announced resignations of two firemen.

Named from a three-man list certified by the Civil Service Commission, Conkle will report for duty as a patrolman Monday, June 10. He now is employed at the Dawson Funeral Home.

Conkle's appointment returns the police force to its authorized strength. He fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Leonard E. Richard about a month ago. Richard resigned to accept a pottery job.

Conkle, an East Liverpool High School graduate, is married and has one child.

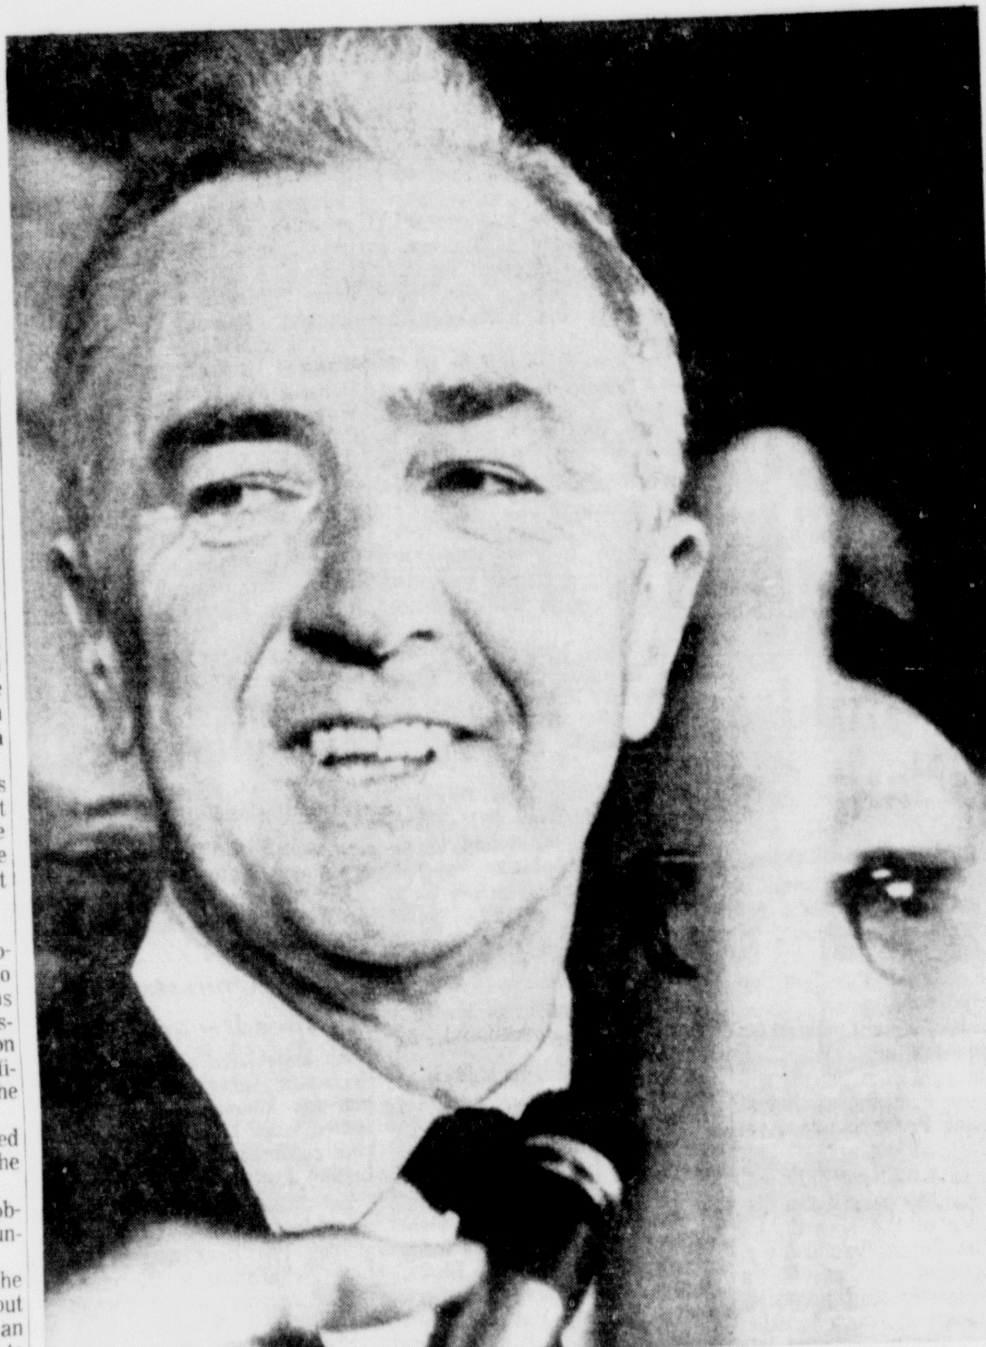

At the same time, the director announced the resignations of Firemen Austin Conley and Gerald Barcus. Both said they intend to seek other employment.

Conley's resignation will take effect June 9. He was appointed to the department July 1, 1958, was furloughed for a time and then rejoined the department in August 1961.

Barcus was named to the department Dec. 1, 1964. Barcus indicated he intends to further his education and will seek a job that will not interfere with a classroom schedule. His resignation takes effect Saturday.

In Oregon Primary

McCarthy Scores Upset As Kennedy Concedes

Democratic Rivals Eye California

Nixon Sweeps 72% Of Vote, Sees GOP Bid About Certain

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has scored an Oregon upset to refuel his campaign for the White House, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has conceded defeat in a Democratic presidential primary he once said he could not afford to lose.

The Democratic rivals turned today to California where they do primary battle again next Tuesday—and where the Oregon surprise is likely to echo.

Nixon Scores 72%

Richard M. Nixon scored a 72 per cent runaway on the Republican ballot, and said that showing virtually eliminated the possibility that his drive for the GOP presidential nomination could be derailed.

The derauling was done on the Democratic side, where McCarthy was capturing 44 per cent of the vote to Kennedy's 38 per cent.

McCarthy said that should silence people who question his credentials as a real contender for the nomination, and have asked whether he will wind up supporting Kennedy or Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey was an absent beneficiary of Kennedy's Oregon setback, even though he never set a campaigning foot in the state.

Humphrey Real Rival

Kennedy argued across Oregon that Humphrey is his real rival for the nomination. The vice president came to the race too late to enter the primaries, but he has been criss-crossing the nation, working to line up convention delegate support. The Oregon outcome is likely to make that quest easier.

Humphrey was receiving 5 per cent of the Oregon vote on write-in ballots. President Johnson was on the ballot, although he has spurned renomination, and got 13 per cent.

Chester Sets Special Rites At Cemetery

Chester American Legion Post 121 will conduct Memorial Day Services Thursday at 10 a.m. at the memorial burial plot at Locust Hill Cemetery.

The program will include the playing of the National Anthem by the Chester Junior High School band, with Richard Evans, director; invocation by the Rev. Daniel J. Davis of the First Christian Church of Chester; a talk by Judge Ralph E. Pryor of the First Judicial Circuit Court, and placement of a wreath by the Gold Star Mothers escorted by the Auxiliaries of Chester Post 121, VFW Post 6450 and Lawrenceville Post 163. The program will conclude with the playing of "Taps" by the Grant District Burial group. Members of the Memorial Day committee are Dwight Allison, chairman, Charles Casto and Harry Hall.

In event of rain, services will be held in the auditorium of Chester Post 121.

Holiday Paper

The Memorial Day edition of The Review will be published late tonight and reach readers Thursday morning.

The newsroom will be open until 9 tonight.

All departments of the paper will be closed Thursday. Want Ads for Friday's Review will be accepted until 9 o'clock Friday morning because of the holiday.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Lucy Putnam

Mrs. Lucy E. Putnam, 88, formerly of Route 39, Wellsville, died today at 2:40 a.m. in City Hospital. She had been in failing health the last few years.

Mrs. Putnam was born in Wytheville, Va., Nov. 3, 1879, a daughter of William B. Dunlap and Diphia Fulk Dunlap. She had resided in the Wellsville-Toronto area the last 45 years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Westmoreland (Catherine) Bruce of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Howard (Iva) Myers of Lisbon; eight sons, Russell Putnam of Cadiz, Ernest Putnam and Shirley Putnam of Wellsville, Earl Putnam and William Putnam of Midland, Mich., Roy Putnam and Clyde Putnam of Toronto and Fred Putnam of East Liverpool; a sister, Mrs. Martha Lipscomb of Wintersville; two brothers, Blaine Dunlap and Golf Dunlap, both of Frametown, W. Va., and 37 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a son, Homer Putnam, in 1950 and her husband, John M. Putnam, in 1960.

The Dawson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Evelyn Bancroft

Services were held in Huntington Park, Calif., last week for Mrs. Evelyn Bancroft, a former resident of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Bancroft, 62, died May 22 in Community Hospital there. Burial was in Park Lawn Memorial Park, with the Rev. F. R. Peterson officiating.

Mrs. Bancroft moved to California in 1947.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Rosa Lafferre and the late Sumner S. Lafferre.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edward (Dorothy) Hester of Seattle, Wash.; a son, Jack Bancroft of Hyattsville, Md.; three sisters, Mrs. G. C. (Grace) McBane of Espanola, N.M., Mrs. Florence Gonnerth of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Jesse (Helen) Densmore of East Liverpool, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Ella Hughes

LISBON — Mrs. Ella Hughes, 93, who for the last eight years resided with her daughter, Mrs. Leo Hochmann of Lisbon RD 1, died at 10:20 p.m. Tuesday at the Frankford Home on S. Lincoln Ave. She had been ill several months.

She was born Jan. 1, 1875, in Jefferson County, Pa., a daughter of David and Amelia Milliron Hildebrand. Her husband, Frank Hughes, died in 1908.

Mrs. Hughes was a member of the First United Methodist Church at Du Bois, Pa.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Hochmann, she leaves a son, Franklin J. Hughes of Youngstown; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Mull of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Clara Whitehill and Mrs. James Pollum, both of Du Bois; 14 grandchildren, 38 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren. Three daughters are deceased.

The body will be taken to the N. R. Moore Funeral Home, W. Long Ave., Du Bois, for services Saturday. Burial will be in Morningside Cemetery.

Mrs. Ida Sand

Judge Paul R. Sand of Upper Darby, Pa., was among the survivors of Mrs. Ida Sand, 88, of Philadelphia, a former East Liverpool resident who died last week.

His name was omitted inadvertently in the original obituary.

Weirton Steel To Build Slag-Processing Plant

WEIRTON — A new slag processing and metal reclamation plant with modern air pollution control and noise abatement equipment will be built in the vicinity of the abandoned city filtration plant in north Weirton, it was announced Tuesday by J. H. Harris, chairman of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp.

The facility will be erected to Weirton Steel specifications by an outside contractor who will operate the plant.

The location selected is such that slag from the company's basic oxygen and open hearth steelmaking plants will be transported to the new processing plant by routes exclusively within Weirton Steel property. Here the steel particles imbedded in the slag will be recovered and returned to the firm's steel-making operations. The remaining slag will be further processed and sized in the new plant, which will be equipped with highly efficient dust control devices.

Harris said all facilities and operations will incorporate air pollution control and noise abatement Weirton Steel Division's Industrial Health Engineering requirements, and all applicable local, state and federal regulations, including requirements established by the West Virginia Air Pollution Control Commission.

The announcement pointed out that when the new slag plant goes into operation, there will be no more dumping of slag at the present Pennsylvania Ave. location.

Harris said that not only will the new facility permit the discontinuance of the slag dumping at the Pennsylvania Ave. site, but also will provide a means whereby slag presently accumulated at that location can be gradually depleted. He said there will be no permanent accumulation of slag at the new plant site but only temporary storage piles awaiting shipment, and that all slag, after removal of the useful metallics, will be transported to locations outside the Weirton area.

Construction of the new plant is expected to start in late summer with the facility to require between 9 and 12 months to build and place in operation.

March Tonight To Begin Lisbon's Memorial Rites

LISBON — Singing groups of veterans will march through darkened streets at 10 tonight to prepare the community for the centennial observance of Memorial Day Thursday.

Dr. J. F. Sutherland, Martins Ferry physician and Republican candidate for 18th District congressman, will give the address tomorrow morning at the cemetery.

The service will follow a parade beginning at 9 at American Legion Post 275, with Robert Kelm, veteran parade marshal, in charge.

He had both arms in slings Tuesday as the result of separated shoulders received in a traffic accident Sunday night at Yorkville, but said, "I won't be able to salute, but I'll be there."

ALL VETERANS are invited to participate in the march to night whether or not they are members of veterans' organizations. The groups will march from E. and W. Lincoln Way and N. Market St. to meet at the Square for a brief program, which will include the dedication of a new granite memorial to all Lisbon area residents who served in World War II and later conflicts.

The monument base was poured last night and the stone is to be placed today. The names of veterans who were killed in action or died in line of duty will be engraved later.

Participating in the evening program will be the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard of the First Presbyterian Church, prayer; Fayson Miller, pledge of allegiance, and the Kelm family fife and drum group.

Miller will be master of ceremonies for the service Thursday on the lawn by the Grand Army of the Republic memorial.

The service will be held in the high school gym if the weather is inclement.

ASHLEY PIKE, a senior at David Anderson High School, will deliver Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, and the high school band will play under the direction of David May.

George M. Nace Jr., high school principal, will read Gen. John Logan's general order which called for the first Decoration Day 100 years ago. Gold Star Mothers and veterans of earlier wars will be introduced. A firing squad will salute the dead.

Kelm said cars, the high school band and marching units will move from the Legion home promptly at 9. The parade will stop at the Square to place flowers on the Veterans of Foreign Wars monument and the new memorial. The service is sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Legion Requests Aid In Grave Decoration

An appeal for assistance in decorating graves of veterans for Memorial Day was issued today by Ernest Lowe, past commander of American Legion Post 4.

Because of the inclement weather, the decorating of graves has been restricted. Lowe, chairman of the committee responsible for graves at Riverview Cemetery, said.

Should anyone see a veteran's grave without a flag, Lowe said, flags are available at the caretaker's office, and the Legion would appreciate assistance in seeing that a flag is placed on the grave.

A new American Flag was presented today to Riverview Cemetery by Post 4. Gerald Hughey, post commander, reported.

WE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY MEMORIAL DAY

It's A Wonderful American Custom

Memorial Day is for family and memories. Some of us can recall the lines of blue clad veterans of the Civil War, and we know what this day of memories meant to them.

We all have someone who fought, who was wounded, and perhaps who lost his life in the fields of World War I, or in the battles and suffering of World War II. We are all thinking of those who fought in Korea and those who are fighting in Vietnam. No, we will NOT be open on this day of memories . . . perhaps of prayer.

Never on Memorial Day . . . but on Friday we'll be open and anxious to serve you, desirous of your good will, and grateful for your patronage.

Terry McKinnon of St. Clair Ave. Ext. is a patient at City Hospital. Frank Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cross of 1359 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, has returned home from Osteopathic Hospital after recent surgery.

Admitted to Rochester General Hospital were Mrs. Anna Germusa, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hurst and Samuel Miller of Midland and Miss Marsha Ann Timko of Industry. Released were Ronald Mazine and Edgar Snyder of Midland, Mrs. Shirley Wilton of Industry and Mrs. Helen Shaffer of Hookstown. Glen Huggins of 805 Avondale St. is a patient at City Hospital.

Top Students Honored During Chamber Event

Seventy-three top honor students from four area high schools were honored at the annual "Student Recognition Dinner" of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Each was presented special certificates by George A. Shaw, president of the Chamber, and Leo Lawrence, chairman of the Chamber's public education committee.

Shaw commended the students for their academic achievement and cited the great opportunities facing high school graduates today.

He referred to the career openings in the East Liverpool area and suggested the great service young people could render by returning to the community after completing their education elsewhere.

The invocation was given by Arthur Doak, vice president, and member of the Beaver Local Board of Education.

The seniors honored included 33 from East Liverpool, 15 from Beaver Local and Oak Glen and 10 from South Side.

Guests were introduced by Lawrence and E. R. Chandler, executive manager of the Chamber.

The public education committee includes Roger Babb, Supt. Paul Blair, Nelson Hagerty, James Jordan, Ed Maloney, Collin Neal, James Roslund and Samuel Brown.

Guilford Beach Opens Thursday

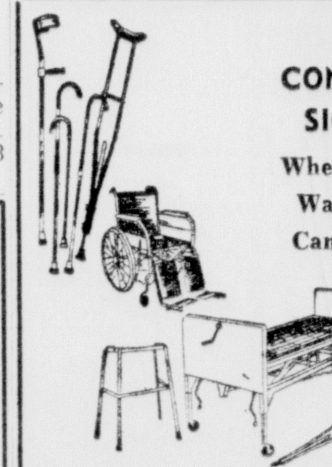

LISBON — The public beach at Guilford Lake State Park will open officially Memorial Day, with lifeguards Rick Kennedy, Lisbon collegian, and Mike Horner, United High School senior, in the tall yellow chairs.

Nelson Hively, park manager, is seeking a third guard before the weather turns hot. The big crescent-shaped beach attracts hundreds of swimmers and sun bathers each year.

Several trailers moved into the camping area Tuesday night and more arrived this morning. Hively said. The park office at the east end of the lake will be open tomorrow for the sale of boat and motor licenses.

The dog cannot perspire as human beings do. When it becomes warm in summer, it sticks out its tongue and pants, cooling off its body by the extra air it breathes in this way.

Sweeper's Repaired, Schedule To Resume

Regularly-scheduled cleaning of East Liverpool streets will resume over the weekend following repair of the city's mechanical sweeper at a Canton plant, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The distributor repaired without charge to the city a so-called "elevator" which lifts refuse into the sweeper's hopper, the director explained. The sweeper has been used on a trial basis since early this week.

The cleaning Friday and Saturday will begin at 7 each morning, covering these streets: Thompson Ave., Ravine St., Vine St., Blakeley St., Bradshaw Ave., Fawcett St., 2nd St., Sugar St., Elm St. and College St. As usual, parking will be banned during the sweeping.

Rites Are Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Plans have been completed for Memorial Day observances here.

The parade will form at 9:30 a. m. at the American Legion Post home, Comdr. Clyde Carman said.

Services will be held at the honor roll, then the line of march proceed to St. Patrick's Cemetery at 10 a. m. The Rev. Wallace Kosin will speak and Sally Thorne will give the Gettysburg Address.

At 1:30 p.m., the group will form and go to Woodlawn Cemetery at 2 p. m., where Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool will speak. The Gettysburg Address will be given again.

The Southern Local High School Band will lead the parade.

Dean Wright will act as marshal.

More Testimony Heard At Lisbon On Land Action

LISBON — Testimony resumed this morning in an Ohio Highway Department land appropriation hearing in Common Pleas Court.

The state is appropriating four parcels totaling approximately 31 acres from the farm of William T. Vebulun of the Lisbon Elkton Rd. for the Route 154 Route 11 project east of Lisbon.

A dairy farmer, Vebulun has a 60-head herd with 40 milking and maintains the loss of the land will materially affect his operation.

He refused the state's offer and asked for a jury trial on the question of damages. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding. The hearing will be continued until Monday if not completed today, since Thursday is a holiday and Friday is reserved for motions. On the jury sworn in Tuesday are:

Margaret Clutter, Dwight Hickman and Mary C. Densmore, East Liverpool; Charles Ewing, Wellsville; Margaret Ronshak and Kermit Riffe, Lisbon; Dorothy Dickey, New Waterford; Ralph Gongaware, Beloit RD 2, and John Krepps, Kenneth Herold, Mildred Dean and William Cameron, Salem. Alva Webber, East Liverpool, is the alternate.

Work Party Set For Tonight By Playrites Group

A "work party" will be held tonight at 6:30 by members of the Ceramic Playrites, James Graham, president, said.

It will be held in the Liberty Theater, Wellsville, where the group will present two plays in mid-June.

Committee reports were heard during a meeting Tuesday night in the former Woomer Building on St. Clair Ave. It was decided that the play "The American Dream" would precede "A Resounding Tinkle," Graham said.

The "Dream" cast will rehearse Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the theater and the "Tinkle" group Friday, Graham said.

The Playrites will meet again Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Woomer Building.

Plans Are Completed For Post 70 Dinner

Plans were completed for the installation dinner Monday when the executive committee met at Wellsville American Legion Post 70.

The program will begin at 8. Comdr. Jerome Gitschier said a 10th District officer will speak. "Ladies Night" will be observed.

Thompson Park Opens Pool Season Thursday

The Thompson Park recreation program and swimming pool schedule will begin the summer schedule Thursday, Joe Walters, park director, has announced.

The pool will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. daily through Sunday, but will revert to a 3 to 9 p.m. schedule next week while schools are in session.

The regular 1 to 9 p.m. hours will be resumed June 10.

New mercury vapor lights have been installed at the tennis courts, Walters said, to permit evening play. Four lights have been installed at each of the three courts, with coin-operated meters for each court.

Twenty-five cents in a meter will provide 25 minutes of lighting for play. The charge is for the electric power, Walters explained. Wiring for the park new lighting is underground.

Sixteen new picnic tables and benches have been provided for the park.

Construction is under way for a new Little League football field at the lower part of the park.

Lights also have been provided for the basketball court near the pool.

The staff at the park will include Clint McConnell, athletic supervisor; Rick Steffen, Greg Davis and Don Cochran, life guards; Patty Thornberry and Janet Malterich, girls' locker room, and Ron Volino and Craig Yanni, boys' locker room.

49th Birthday Meeting Held By Wellsville Eastern Star

The 49th birthday of Wellsville Chapter 417, Order of Eastern Star, was observed Monday night at the Masonic Temple.

On the west on a blue drape was a tiered cake decorated with the numerals "49." A white lattice work arch was featured in an addenda for the occasion by Mrs. Lois Smith, worthy matron and officers. The arch was decorated by the Star Points with flowers of their station. Each member present was presented a gift from the worthy matron and all sang "Happy Birthday."

Mrs. Ann Williamson, secretary since 1954, and Mrs. Thelma Miller, treasurer since 1949, were presented plaques for their years of service.

The Bible of the worthy matron's mother was featured in the East in a lighted frame. Beneath was a straw bonnet trimmed with spring flowers. Around the bonnet were vases of violets, roses, lily-of-the-valley, fern and daffodils. The altar was draped in memory of the past grand matron and the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Edna Reed, member of the Wellsville chapter.

Board Delays Job Contract

EAST PALESTINE — Action on awarding contracts for remodeling of the art room at East Palestine High School has been tabled on the advice of the school architect by the Board of Education.

Bids from three firms were opened Monday by the board: C. William McCowin $5,400; J. G. Madden & Sons $5,767, and James McCarthy $5,800.

George T. Smith & Associates of Youngstown, architects, suggested the bids were somewhat high for the project. Further study was ordered.

In other action the board approved the summer driver education in line with meeting new state requirements. James Nesbitt, instructor, was hired on a fulltime basis for the summer at $2,444. Thomas Mercer of Columbiana was hired at $450 an hour for classroom instruction and $3.50 for driving instruction.

The board advertised today for bids on repairs to roofs at three buildings where damage has been caused by recent wind and rain. Offers will be opened June 20.

Don Smith, assistant track coach, was named to direct the fall cross-country program at $200. William Offenbecher, football coach, was named to direct the annual summer physical fitness program June 24-Aug. 9 for four hours a day, five days a week.

Sign Erected To Mark 'Dip'

A huge sign obtained from the Ohio Highway Department Division 11 office in New Philadelphia has been placed alongside a Freeway "off" ramp in West End to warn motorists against a break in the concrete pavement that has been growing worse progressively for several months.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said the sign was erected Tuesday by the street department. Lettered in black on vivid yellow, it warns "Dip."

The break is in the pavement on the ramp which leads from the Freeway to W. 8th St. to serve motorists who are out-bound on the Freeway and want to head south on Route 7.

The break affects the left half of the pavement and is about 40 feet long. The fault is lowest at the midpoint, so that a car noses down and then up abruptly. It has grown worse in the last few weeks of heavy rain, apparently caused by accelerated sinking of the base and earth underneath.

The pavement is 9 inches of reinforced concrete. The repair will be the city's responsibility, as all the Freeway section inside the corporate limits was turned over for municipal maintenance after it had been built under a highway department contract.

Vodrey said there is a theory that the pavement sunk because it passes over a spot where there was a cellar excavation for one of the homes and business places that occupied the area before the highway was built. If the fill in the cellar continued to compact after the ramp was built, it would have the effect of allowing the concrete to drop, fracturing it, he explained.

Marine Dies On Patrol In Viet Fighting

BEAVER — Marine Lance Cpl. Nicholas Samuel Vrankovich, 18, son of Mrs. Joseph Omogrosso of Beaver Falls and the late Rudolph John Vrankovich, has been killed in action in Vietnam.

He is Beaver County's 40th Viet victim either killed in action or claimed by wounds.

Cpl. Vrankovich suffered fatal gunshot wounds of the body, officials said, while on patrol Friday. He had been overseas three months and two days.

A brother, Rudolph Vrankovich Jr., was severely wounded in November and now is under intensive care and treatment at Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

A 1967 graduate of Beaver Falls High School, the youth enlisted in the Marines and served in the Honor Guard at Washington. He volunteered for Vietnam and served with Co. G of the 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines.

Also surviving are his stepfather, two other brothers, two sisters and the paternal grandmother.

Corak Given 5th Term As Party's Head

Mayor Eli G. Corak of Midland was re-elected to a fifth term as chairman of the Beaver County Democratic Committee Tuesday night at Rochester High School auditorium.

Corak, who was unopposed, was first elected to the post in 1960. He is the only Democratic chairman elected as delegate-at-large by the Pennsylvania State Democratic Committee.

All other incumbent officers were returned. They are Lois E. Wood of Beaver Falls, vice chairman, and James G. Camp, treasurer.

Elizabeth McCurdy of Freedom was appointed secretary, and James Albert of Hopewell was named registration chairman. Sam Pitts of Ambridge was appointed solicitor, and George James of Beaver Falls was named assistant.

Balloting was by roll-call vote.

Various Offices Will Be Closed

LISBON — The Columbiana County Courthouse, other county, state and federal offices, local business places and the schools will be closed Thursday for Memorial Day.

The opening of Sadie P. Van Fossan Memorial Swimming Pool is scheduled tentatively for June 6, since schools will be in session through June 5.

Workmen are repairing a wall on the pool. They say weather delays make the June 6 opening doubtful. The pool has to be painted after the wall is repaired, they pointed out.

2 Motorists Pay $71 On 21 Parking Tickets

Two motorists accused of ignoring 21 parking tickets paid $71.50 in fines, costs and forfeits today in Municipal Court.

Samuel R. Lowe of 1006 Avondale St. was fined $34 and $7.50 costs on a charge of ignoring 14 citations. But Lowe explained to the court that the tickets actually were accumulated by his 18-year-old son, although the car is registered in the father's name. The affidavit was signed by "Meter Maid" Maxine Clark.

John Sullivan of 1534 Globe St. forfeited a $30 bond on a charge he failed to settle for seven tickets. The affidavit also was signed by "Meter Maid" Clark.

Toward Self-Regulation

John Cuniff, business analyst for Associated Press, sees more value in federal legislation passed to protect consumers than the regulation of practices in the specific area covered by a single bill.

For example, he pointed out that the new truth in lending bill, just approved by Congress, was hotly debated two years ago. Businessmen predicted dire consequences if it gained congressional favor.

NOW THAT IT has been passed by Congress, many businessmen see it not only as a benefit to the consumer but also a direct aid to retailers as a protection against unfair practices.

The same has been true in other cases where reform legislation originally met with opposition. After reform is written into law, business absorbs the changes and restrictions and moves right along with programs or progress and profits.

The extra value cited by Mr. Cuniff in such legislation is the awareness by officials in many industries of abuses and the need for self-regulation.

Many businesses have special organizations to deal with the area of consumer information and education about potential dangers from products through improper use.

Other associations deal with consumer complaints and recommend action to be taken within the industry to satisfy or protect customers.

The question of federal regulation and control in business will continue to be controversial.

More bills will be coming along. Some will become law, others will be sidetracked.

THE REAL SOLUTION lies in the interest and concern of leaders in individual industries. Through policing of their own practices, they will wipe out problems before complaints start flooding Washington.

Hopefully, this trend toward self-regulation will grow in favor and eliminate the need for federal control legislation except in those cases where unscrupulous characters are determined to prey on an unsuspecting and uninformed public.

'Bring 'Em Back'

The current 'Bring 'Em Back Alive' highway safety campaign for Memorial Day is also a reminder of the start of the summer driving season with families taking to the roads for vacation trips, outings, visits and rides through the country.

The traffic toll will soar in the next four to five months, and tri-state area police, ambulance drivers, hospital staffs, insurance agents, auto shops and courts will be kept busy as a result of the foolishness and carelessness of people who can't drive right or won't.

Next time you climb in the car to take your family out onto the highway, ask yourself if you will 'bring 'em back alive,' then take all the precautions necessary to insure that if you don't, at least it won't be your fault—if that can be any consolation at the funeral home. . .

Do Slums Need To Exist?

Volumes could be compiled from the printed material which has been published pertaining to slums. But still the slums exist.

An Ohio State University professor, Richard W. Bletzack, believes they do not have to exist, however. He contends the solution to the slum problem is simple.

Prof. Bletzack says all that needs to be done is to enforce existing codes—zoning, building, residential and housing. But you have to enforce them, he insists.

The professor concedes that there always will be older and less desirable sections of communities, but he contends they do not have to be allowed to deteriorate to the tear-down point.

Building inspection, of course, is an important factor in control of housing conditions. Prof. Bletzack, who is director of the university's building research laboratory, has proposed starting a training center for teachers in "advanced technology of building inspection instruction."

Theoretically, the professor's plan should work. Whether it can be achieved from a practical standpoint is the question. There are many problems involved including headline decisions by inspectors, possible law suits with long delays and lack of cooperation by both tenants and landlords.

But Prof. Bletzack is convinced that "code requirements control the character of community development and the effectiveness of planning."

If his proposal can prevent the development of slums, he will deserve and get—the support and thanks of everyone.

'Re-Assessing' Again?

A lot of tri-state area residents this morning were wondering if the junior senator from New York, given a pounding in the Oregon primary by Eugene McCarthy, had come around to another "re-assessing" session.

One thing Sen. Robert Kennedy could be re-assessing in his statement of Nov. 19, 1967, "It would be a healthy influence on the Democratic party" if Sen. McCarthy entered the presidential primary races. It certainly wasn't too healthy for the Kennedy branch of the party Tuesday.

RFK's political prognosis won't be the best heading into California with a bad case of McCarthyitis, and certainly the national Democratic feeling is growing that perhaps both candidates will be given a taste of bitter medicine by a Minnesota pharmacist named Humphrey.

RAYMOND MOLEY

'Participatory Democracy'

The humiliation of Columbia University by hoodlums — some of whom were students and some, like Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown, lawless revolutionists — a very good example of a concept called "participatory democracy."

That is a slogan apparently coined by the New Left. It involves a concept which is explicit in some and implicit in all of Sen. Robert Kennedy's more serious — I cannot say more thoughtful — speeches.

That fancy phrase was the key to the Students for a Democratic Society's (SDS) Port Huron manifesto in 1962. As is characteristic of the statements of so many half-baked intellectuals, that manifesto was full of 10-dollar words and phrases.

The objective is "decentralization" or "decision making of basic social consequence carried on by public groupings" — those groups being concerned with education, housing, job production and even "police brutality."

THE POINT is to demand real power by private groups instead of by legally constituted public servants.

Under this plan of setting up a new decentralized civilization are a number of SDS specifics: "Local, regional and national economic planning"; "a welfare state — everyone's welfare according to need"; public corporations to supplant private businesses; international systems of education; "universal controlled disarmament" under the United Nations, "and the gradual transfer of sovereignties . . . to such machinery."

We have seen some of this in our great cities. There the people in the local communities have demanded that federal funds for welfare be administered by the beneficiaries, selection of teachers and principals and the making of curricula by parents, civilian boards to control the police, and in colleges and universities demands of students to take over decision making from trustees and administrators.

Ideas of the New Left get into Kennedy speeches, according to commentators Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, through Pete Hamill, "a radical young journalist and novelist," and Jack Newfield, a leading spirit in the New Left.

And so Kennedy said at Weber State College in Ogden, Utah, "We must return local control to the people themselves. In the last analysis it should be in the cities and towns and villages where the decisions are made, not in Washington." At Brigham Young University, he called for "a new kind of program which places money directly into communities, instead of flowing through an inefficient, overstructured, often tyrannical bureaucracy."

In Los Angeles Kennedy told Negroes, "I want the control over your destinies to be decided by the people in Watts, not by those of us who are in Washington."

So this is "participatory democracy." And we have seen it in action at Columbia University. Three or four hundred students, black and white, entered and occupied five vital buildings where undergraduate and graduate classes meet and where administrative and faculty offices are located.

A squad also occupied and held the president's office where once the great Nicholas Murray Butler and former President Dwight Eisenhower held sway. Thus these storm troopers seized the vital spots where the university's government operates much as revolutions in Europe have successfully overthrown governments.

And the negotiations which followed were marked by the endless delaying procedure which are making the effort of the United States to talk terms with Hanoi. For a long time mediation by faculty committees failed because of the demands of the rebels.

The news of these events which reached me here, hundreds of miles from Morningside Heights, was food for some sad reflections. I held the title of professor of public law there for 25 years. The very department of which I was a member was founded by a great student of the Constitution, John W. Burgess.

HE TAUGHT that our constitutional system was at once a pattern of law and a guarantee of liberty. And that there could be no liberty without law. But "participatory democracy" rejects law and destroys liberty. And it isn't even democracy when a few hundred students deny the rights of 10,000 who are trying to get an education.

By coincidence there was published in the local newspaper which told of the disgraceful events at Columbia University a tribute to the great German-born liberal, Francis Lieber, who taught at South Carolina College before the Civil War. He went from there to Columbia College in New York and is honored there by a professorship named for him.

As a graduate student I studied political philosophy with the Lieber Professor at Columbia. In his writings there is a reminder to all of the danger in the doctrines of such demagogues as Robert Kennedy:

"The true Republican wants no absolutism of any sort — none to practice on others, and none to practice on himself."

'Meanwhile, Anybody Got An Aspirin?'

VICTOR RIESEL

The Crumbling Cosa Nostra

WASHINGTON — Who says good news is no news? The upbeat word from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is that the manicured Mafia dons no longer are untouchable. Despite its billions of dollars, always handy in an election year, the Cosa Nostra is creaking and cracking a little at its top seams.

Victor Riesel

For the moment, its national (killer) commission is under a caretaker government. In Chicago it had to draw two "elder statesmen" out of retirement to run a twin regency over what was once its happiest marauding grounds. In New York the silently crusading U.S. Attorney Robert Morgenthau has smashed three syndicate commands. Carlo Gambino, toughest of the labor racket tycoons, has been forced into semiretirement by FBI pressure.

Big money on the labor-management front will be harder to come by if Congress gets off the money bags and appropriates enough funds for an additional 24 lawyers in the Justice Dept.'s Organized Crime and Racketeering section.

This would cost some $330,000 annually — about what it takes to count whooping cranes. Twenty of those attorneys for which Criminal Division chief Fred Vinson has been pleading would be placed in the new "Task Forces." Only two — count them — two would go into the Crime and Racketeering Section's special Labor Unit, unchronicled except by this correspondent.

IT'S BEEN OPERATING since early last year — with just eight lawyers. Yet in fiscal year 1967, it received 1,113 reports of violations of the Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act and the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act, 351 violations of the anti-extortion Hobbs Act, and 385 Taft-Hartley violations.

Those confidential records reveal that the organized crime syndicates have terrorized thousands of union officials, hundreds of businesses, and have mishandled hundreds of millions of dollars in labor-management pension and welfare funds.

Few realize that some $14 billion is dispersed annually by these welfare funds. While most of them are carefully managed, the public soon will hear of disclosures of the meanest kind of chiseling of old and young alike on the health front.

Just watch for the indictment of the shake-down syndicates who put their Mafioso into the funds' managements.

Watch especially for the exposure of Cosa Nostra infiltration into a network of construction locals. Look for the infiltration into some service trade locals. Those who have tried to stop the mob's methodical takeover have been beaten in cellars, threatened with mayhem, and at least one man has been killed.

"The major functions of the (Labor) Unit," said Fred Vinson, "are to regularly assess racketeer involvement in unions and to initiate appropriate investigations, as well as assisting the (Organized Crime and Racketeering Section) area coordinators."

Headed by young Jim Featherstone, the Labor Unit is trying to head off mob control of locals, which in turn give the syndicates a stranglehold on the labor supply in some areas of construction, the waterfront, trucking. Energetically, Featherstone has opened an "un-investigated" territory, New England, especially Providence, R.I., and bloody Boston.

The Labor Unit wants 10 lawyers this coming year — an increase of two for a cost running under $25,000. Yet Congress hasn't moved — much to the satisfaction of the handful of so-called solons who burn up the wires to protect hoodlums in some of our major cities.

THESE LABOR UNIT ATTORNEYS work with the 21 area offices of the Labor Dept.'s Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports. These turn in quarterly intelligence reports on violations and mob movements. Only recently, the National Labor Relations Board has been forced to set up small criminal information divisions in its field headquarters to alert the Labor Unit on organized looting of locals.

Without the Labor Unit's assistance, national labor chiefs could not guard the AFL-CIO's 60,000 locals. Yet it must plan on only 10 — if that — attorneys for the coming fiscal year.

Yet, with its infinitesimal staff, the Labor Unit, with FBI agents in attendance, has indicated and convicted scores of syndicate crooks and terrorists.

It's the FBI's investigative assistance which has proved so effective that the Chicago crime combine now has no hard-command leadership. The mob has been forced to dig the 69-year-old Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, an old friend of Jimmy Hoffa's, out of retirement to share the caretaker government with Tony Accardo, who also was in retirement.

It's the Bureau's men who dug so hard into Carlo Gambino's activity that he decided to live the life of a quiet don. Gambino succeeded Al (the Executioner) Anastasia to the control of vast waterfront and real estate empires and the wide-spread Eastern labor rackets. It's the Gambino Cosa Nostra crowd which will have its relations with a network of at least 10 construction locals exposed.

It's the Bureau which is the investigative strength in the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section's permanent units in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami and Newark.

So when J. Edgar Hoover reports good news, it is solid news, upbeat news for we the people.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Goal Of Poor

Leaders in Congress are not exactly sure what the marchers who claim to represent the "poor" of the country really want.

There is the deepest sympathy with any poverty-stricken persons, but doubt prevails nevertheless as to whether the demonstrators have really come to the right place to seek relief.

Up to now, the theory has been that it is primarily the obligation of each state to take care of the health, education and welfare of its residents and that, if it lacks sufficient funds, the federal government should supplement them.

So the impression is growing here that maybe, instead of the $3,000 marchers camping in Washington, they should go to the 50 different state capitals and put their case to the governors of their respective states.

THEN, IF THE MONEY required to take care of the problem is not available, it would naturally be the function of the governors to request assistance from the national government, in which case, Congress could make the necessary appropriations.

Basically poverty situations are best handled by local authorities, anyway. For the states and cities each have welfare departments and a record of those who are in need of assistance.

Although the federal government has had an "antipoverty" program, it has been designed largely for job training of various kinds and educational aids for children. Many of the critics of these particular programs have said that the states should have initiated such projects themselves.

To place on the federal government the complete responsibility for handling the welfare of the citizens in every community would require an enormous bureaucracy.

Unfortunately, the demonstration here by the "poor" marchers dramatizes mainly the idea that the federal government is the place to go for direct assistance, irrespective of the duties which naturally fall on the state and city governments.

If people are to be told that, no matter what their difficulties, they should go directly to Washington, there would be no end to encampments and marches in the future.

For some time, many members of Congress have been saying that lots of money has been wasted in the so-called "antipoverty" program, largely because the federal government doesn't have at its command the machinery which can be utilized efficiently in every state of the union.

Certainly attention should be focused more sharply on all phases of the problem. It could be that the demonstration by the "poor people's march" will have some constructive effects. But the importance of the issue has already been recognized by the federal government and particularly in Congress.

The secretary of agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, testified this week before the House Labor and Education Committee that 59 counties in 11 states have not set up machinery for food programs.

These include distribution to the poor of government-owned surplus products as well as the "food stamp" program whereby persons and families with low incomes are able to purchase goods at reduced cost.

Secretary Freeman, moreover, said the CBS television program last week dramatizing the hunger problem "was shot full of errors." Members of Congress asked the secretary to document the errors. In the Senate, a subcommittee on employment, manpower and poverty, headed by Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, has also started hearing on hunger.

It would appear, therefore, that at least the problem is being given more public discussion than ever before. But the fact remains that the administrative tasks, if they are to be efficiently carried out, will have to be localized.

IT IS A MATTER of great surprise that most governors of the states, who should know what is happening in their own localities, have not been inclined to explain comprehensively the plight of the poor to their constituents.

Nor has there been any organized plan by the states to determine just what the federal government should supply for the poverty-stricken.

There are many ways by which the national government can supplement the work of the states. Until extensive programs have been worked out in each state, however, for the handling of the problems of the poor, and the requirements of each state are thoroughly investigated, Congress can hardly legislate effectively on the whole subject.

Shafer Milk Control Bill Dealt Blow

HARRISBURG — The Shafer administration's milk control bill was dealt a serious blow Tuesday when the House Agriculture Committee released to the floor a substitute measure that would do little more than change the name of the Milk Control Commission.

House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., sponsor of the administration bill, said he was not discouraged by the committee's action, indicating that the tactic might backfire.

"I do not favor the bill released from committee," Donaldson said. "However, now, at least, we have a bill on the floor. I would hope we could amend it with provisions of the administration proposal."

The legislation released from the committee was sponsored by its chairman, Rep. William H. Ashton, R-Chester, and obviously aimed at farmer groups of which support state regulation of milk prices.

Pennsylvania Senate Okays Package Of Anti-Crime Bills

HARRISBURG — A package of four anti-crime bills dealing with firearms and explosives is before the House, following approval by the Senate.

The bills, passed Tuesday, would:

— Prohibit anyone except law enforcement officials from carrying a firearm, rifle or shotgun on the public streets or on public property during an emergency proclaimed by a city or state official. Exceptions would be persons engaged in defense of life or property during imminent peril or threat.

— Prohibit unauthorized persons from interfering with police or fire radio broadcasts.

— Provide that all explosives stored at a construction or blasting site be enclosed in a magazine equipped with a lock.

— Require that firearm dealers in Philadelphia, during their closed hours, store all the arms in an approved safe, vault or properly secured storehouse. In other cities, the arms would be stored after hours according to regulations set by the State Police.

The bill to prohibit the carrying of weapons during an emergency included some special measures concerning Philadelphia.

In that city, no person would be able to carry a firearm on public streets or public property unless he was licensed to carry a firearm, to hunt or to fish, and was en route to or from his destination; transported the firearm disassembled and contained in a securely wrapped container; or dealt in firearms.

Christmas

a gaily - decorated Christmas tree and a mantel decorated with mistletoe and a big holiday wreath.

Mrs. Forzano has planned a dinner menu with all the Christmas goodies, centering around a ham. The holiday cookies have been waiting in the freezer, ready to add another traditional touch to the celebration.

Some of the Forzano's friends heard about the heartwarming plans for the celebration and have joined in the spirit wholeheartedly. Christmas cards have started arriving!

GAILY - WRAPPED presents will be waiting under the tree for the soldier. Many will contain civilian clothes which he will be able to wear in his off-duty time in Italy. Rich has been at home since May 6.

Mrs. Forzano's parents traveled here from Iowa to join in the celebration, along with her sister and brother-in-law, making it the first general family observance of Christmas in 25 years. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Burdick and her sister and brother-in-law are Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom. All reside in Clear Lake, Iowa. The Ransoms brought along their son and daughter, Mike and Sue.

Only one member of the immediate family will be unable to attend - Rick's brother, Spec. 4 Robert Forzano, who is stationed with an Army unit at Ft. Hood, Tex. Robert returned from duty in Germany last January.

So if there's a distant, muted sound of sleigh bells and the echo of carols over a particular home near the Country Club tonight, think nothing of it.

It will just be St. Nick on a special mission for the U.S. Army - five months late for some families, seven months early for others - but just right for the Forzanos and their soldier son.

Barge Removed At Lock Chamber

An empty coal barge which sank early Saturday in the Montgomery Dam lock chamber was removed about 2 a.m. today.

The craft, reportedly owned by the Ohio Barge Co., broke loose from its mooring upstream and lodged in the mouth of the lock chambers. Though partially blocking the chambers, the barge did not interrupt navigation, Charles Boughner, lockmaster, pointed out.

Broken in half and probably earmarked for scrap, the barge was to be taken to Pittsburgh later today.

Court Orders Arrest In Jobless Pay Count

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a bench warrant for the arrest of Walter Mallory of Steubenville, who failed to appear for a scheduled hearing on a charge he "unlawfully and fraudulently" claimed a dependency allowance on Aug. 15, 1967, when filing a claim for unemployment compensation.

Mallory's hearing had been continued from March 21, when he indicated to the court he would begin making regular payments for restitution of the amount he allegedly collected illegally. The affidavit was signed by Victor DeGeorge of Canton, district investigator for the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The BUC representative told the court today he has sent three notices to Mallory asking about the restitution, but received no reply. "He has made no attempt to pay," the investigator told the judge.

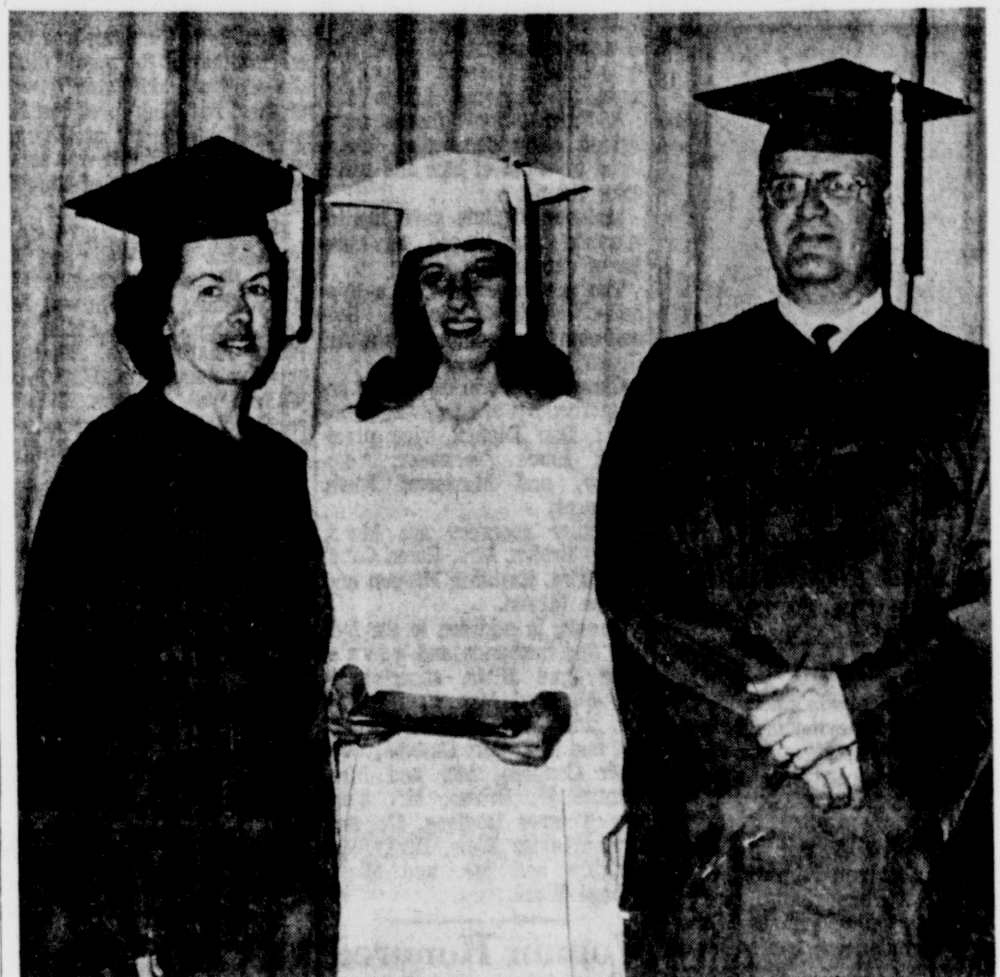

Industry Area Man Receives His Degree

William Patrick Cody, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Cody of Industry RD 2, was graduated Sunday from Slippery Rock State College with a bachelor of arts degree, majoring in history and political science. He will join the service.

Cody was a member of Alpha fraternity, the Young Democrats and the Newman Center on campus.

The first Indian to serve as vice president of the United States was Charles Curtis of Kansas, who served under President Herbert Hoover from 1929 to 1933. Curtis was of Shawnee descent.

Graduation-Family Style

Graduation 1968 is a family affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVay of Birch Rd., where diplomas are lying around like junk mail.

McVay, principal at the Rogers School in Beaver Local District, and his wife, Mrs. Donna Jean McVay, a first-grade teacher at the Calcutta School, were graduated Sunday at Steubenville College, with bachelor degrees.

Patricia McVay, 17, their oldest youngster, will receive her Beaver Local High School diploma Monday at the senior class commencement.

McVay, a native of East Liverpool and an Army veteran, has taught in Beaver Local six years. His wife, the former Donna Jean Smith, has taught 14 years. Her mother, Mrs. Lucille Smith of Cannons Mills, recently retired as a Beaver Local teacher and still substitutes.

Some more diplomas are on the way. The McVays have two sons, David, 11, in the sixth grade, and Gary, 15, in the ninth grade.

Committee Urges Repair Of Roads

Needed repairs to two roads and the need for a littering ordinance were discussed by the Mayors Citizens Advisory Committee Tuesday night at the Industry Borough Building.

Fred Summers, vice president, was in charge. The committee asked Mayor Steve Suchanec to carry the recommendations to Council for repairs to Orange St. and Paradise Rd. In addition to the state code on littering along highways, the committee said it will seek the adoption of local legislation. Complaints of continual littering have been received.

Industry Boy Scouts interested in camping sites in the borough are to contact Nelson McClelland of Oak Grove Rd. and Don Whitehead of Whitehead Rd., both members of the committee.

NAACP Waits Kickoff In Membership Drive

Plans have been completed for the membership kickoff breakfast of the East Liverpool NAACP followed by a district NAACP meeting Saturday.

Harold C. Strickland, field director for the Ohio NAACP conference, will be speaker for the breakfast at 8 in the Second Baptist Church.

Nathaniel Lee of Youngstown, president of the Ohio NAACP, will attend, Caesar Peters, local president, has announced.

District 3 of the Ohio NAACP includes chapters at Steubenville, Bellaire, Alliance, Ashtabula, Campbell, Struthers, Painesville, Warren, Youngstown and East Liverpool.

The district session will be held from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., Peters said.

Lee listed the objectives of the meeting as discussion of local branch problems confronting NAACP leadership and to review all fund-raising activities, including membership, life membership and Freedom Fund.

Strickland, 52, a native of Tennessee, has degrees from the University of Toledo and Ohio State University. He was named field director in 1961 after serving as executive secretary of the Toledo NAACP.

Miss Helen Maxie is chairman of the local membership drive.

Palestine Pushes Full Recreation Program In City

EAST PALESTINE - Pledges of $5,501 from individuals and business firms toward a year-round city recreation program were announced Tuesday by Terry W. Nash, chairman of a six-member committee named to organize the program.

At a meeting at the City Hall, Nash said attempts will be made to employ a director by July 1, with the hope of getting the new program under way by Sept. 1.

The recreation would be designed for young and old, male and female, through the whole year. Currently, recreation is centered on boys at the City Park.

Committee heads named by Nash last night included John Davison, finance; Nash, personnel; Mrs. Kate Barkley, program; Mrs. Jack Cohen, youth coordinator and publicity, and D. B. Davis, Golden Age group.

The next meeting will be June 25.

Hancock Office Lists Schedule

The Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office will be open June 7 and June 14.

The office is located in the former Lock No. 9 building near New Cumberland.

Norma Murray, program clerk, will be there two days from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. but on June 14 the office will close at noon.

Any business administered under the ASCA, a branch of the Department of Agriculture, can be conducted on those days. Requests will be taken for cost-sharing and to receive reports of performance under the 1968 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Hamilton Group And Board Of Education Reach Accord

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) - A predominantly Negro citizens group and the Hamilton Board of Education have reached an agreement in their dispute but it might require submission of a levy to voters.

The board conceded Tuesday to grant eight demands of the Concerned Citizens Committee, which had picketed Harrison Elementary School and the board and organized a boycott at four schools.

Topping the list of demands agreed to by the board was one to initiate recruiting procedures for a Negro principal at Harrison.

The board also agreed to hire more Negro teachers at all schools and offer Negro courses at junior and senior highs.

Board Vice President Dr. Ernest Davis indicated Tuesday that implementation of the agreement might have to be determined by voters' approval of a levy, but he said the board "feels we can definitely depend on" the committee "to help us on the proposal."

Among other demands were having the administration assist Negro students 16 years and older in finding jobs and help open lines of communication between school officials and Negro pupils.

Concerning the boycott prompted by the board's refusal to rehire Negro Larry Whiteside as teacher at Harrison, the board decided not to penalize students taking part in the move and missing classes.

Whiteside was appointed Tuesday as a caseworker for the Butler County Welfare Department.

Improved Coffee Flavor

DEAR HELOISE: We coffee drinkers have two problems! If we drink all the coffee we want, we sometimes develop a case of coffee nerves. On the other hand, while the decaffeinated kind takes care of the nerves, it just doesn't seem to provide the flavor and aroma I like.

By the time we get to the bottom of the pot, the coffee is mighty strong and sometimes bitter, but it's too unhandy to brew just one cup at a time.

So...I experimented. I mixed a pound of my regular brand with a pound of decaffeinated coffee, and brewed this mixture using the regular measurements.

The result had all the flavor and aroma of regular coffee without the usual after-effects.

Then I poured the contents of the pot into a vacuum bottle with a tight seal and had myself a cup of coffee with that "just brewed" flavor, as long as the supply lasted.

Bless you, June. Great idea!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When the buckram at the top of my draw drapes begins to droop...I place a pipe cleaner in "the pleats" bet weeckuat nhrneb and material of the inside hems everyplace it's drooping!

BETTY.

DEAR HELOISE: To get my children — and I have four with the oldest in kindergarten — to eat raw carrots without leaving half of one laying around, I cut them into little square carrot "candies."

MRS. R. MILKS.

DEAR HELOISE: This is for anyone — male or female — who wears tight blue jeans.

If you pull your underpants up over your shirttail, you will be surprised how easily you can pull up those "snugglers."

And you don't have to bother about all of that shirttail tucking in!

That may sound like a letter of laughter, but I tested it, and had one of my friends test it, too.

It works!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I always seem to have a lot of guests with small babies.

I've noticed that when the mother changes the baby, she either does it on the couch, the rug or on the bed. These places absorb the moisture from a wet diaper and sometimes it leaves an odor.

Well, since I have a small baby myself, I purchased a waterproof lap pad that I keep in my diaper bag to use when changing her in someone else's home. Thought other mothers might like to use my idea.

B. H.

DEAR HELOISE: Yesterday at dinner, my sons said it was the best beef stroganoff I have ever made.

You know why? Because I used some dips leftover from a party.

Instead of the sour cream my regular recipe calls for, I substituted sour cream blue cheese dip, French onion dip, milk and a little flour to thicken.

I used about one-fourth cup of blue cheese dip, a half-cup of the onion dip, a cup of milk and 2 tablespoons of flour thickening added to the regular ingredients.

It was delish! Used up the leftover dips and saved buying sour cream, too.

EVELYN HAMMER

DEAR HELOISE: If you do weeding that nearly breaks your back stooping over, try my idea:

Just cut the bottom out of two heavy plastic bags and pull one up over each leg of your slacks, keeping them in place with strong rubber bands or old shoe strings. Then you can scoot along on your knees without getting your slacks damp or dirty or wearing them out.

Two Fines Assessed In Herron Hearings

NEW CUMBERLAND — An East Liverpool motorist was fined in Squire John D. Herron's court Monday.

David Yazevac, 21, of 1706 Id. ave. was fined $10 and costs for speeding. He was cited by the state police.

Also fined Monday was Isaac Mills, 27, of Mingo Junction, $30 and costs for petty larceny. He was arrested by Hancock County deputies after he attempted to take $80 from a Weirton area woman. The money was recovered.

Rubs Winning Sheen Off Bobby

Kennedys Finally Lose An Election In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Kennedys have finally lost an election in an Oregon Democratic presidential primary that rubbed the winning sheen off Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, an underdog, upset the New York senator in the first defeat ever handed to a member of the Kennedy family in more than a score of primaries and general elections in which they have been engaged.

The ultimate winner in Kennedy's Oregon setback could be Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He got only around 5 per cent of the vote by write-in.

But he was an indirect beneficiary of McCarthy's derauling of the bandwagon Kennedy hopes to ride triumphantly into the party's Chicago nominating convention.

McCarthy restored his status as a top contender for the nomination. However, he faces another apparently uphill battle with Kennedy next Tuesday in California, where the signs are not as favorable for the Minnesota senator.

The irony of the situation, however, was that while Kennedy and McCarthy were struggling over Oregon's 35 convention votes, Humphrey won 53 of 63 Florida votes. A ticket headed by Sen. George Smathers, a Humphrey supporter, swamped a slate pledged to McCarthy.

Humphrey thus continued to pile up a delegate total he had enriched previously in states where conventions name the slates while his opponents battle each other in the primaries.

Kennedy's chief hope of overcoming this lead had been to sweep the primaries and thus storm into the convention as a demonstrated winner.

In Oregon the Kennedy name and touch failed to rouse the crowds to ecstatic heights as they had in Indiana, Nebraska and in California campaigning. McCarthy combined his soft sell approach with the best organization and the heaviest financing he has been able to mount in any of the primaries.

The results indicated that Kennedy would be handicapped in areas where the Negro and ethnic minority vote is small as it was in Oregon.

In the Republican division of the primary, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon swamped two threatening contenders.

By taking more than 70 per cent of the vote he deflated the possibility that a combination of Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California could stop him at the Miami Beach, Fla., party convention.

Reagan, who said he isn't a presidential candidate, got around 22 per cent of the vote with his name on the ballot after an expensive and lengthy television campaign. A write-in campaign for Rockefeller, an active candidate who won the 1964 Oregon primary, produced about 5 per cent.

Federal Agents Arrest Trio And Nab Phony Bills

CLEVELAND (AP) — U.S. Secret Service agents so far have grabbed $200,000 in phony bills and say three Cleveland area men arrested Tuesday were middle men in a counterfeiting operation involving Ohio, Pennsylvania and several southern states.

The three were charged with selling $18,000 worth of the bills and agents said they confiscated 180 phony 100s at a Cleveland area motel.

Wilmer K. Deckard, head of the Secret Service in Cleveland, said the three were picked up while making the phony money sale in the motel lobby. Deckard said similar bills have been turning up over the last two months in Cleveland bars and gas stations.

Arraigned were Gary D. Harris and Joseph Farinacci, 41, both of Cleveland, and Guy Pouter, 26, Cleveland Heights. A hearing was set for June 6.

Brick-Throwing, Sniper Fire

150 Arrested, 15 Injured In Louisville Racial Riots

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — More than 150 persons were arrested and 15 others were injured Tuesday night as the second night of racial violence in Louisville was marked by hit-and-run tactics of brick throwers and sporadic sniper fire.

National Guardsmen aided police in the city's West End, a predominantly Negro section where rioting erupted Monday night and resumed Tuesday afternoon and night.

Three persons hit by gunfire during Tuesday night's disorders were reported in serious condition. A policeman was also hit by a gunshot. He was reported in good condition. Three firemen and three guardsmen were admitted to the hospital. One fireman suffered from smoke inhalation. The others were struck by thrown glass and rocks.

Twenty persons were injured Monday night, including four gunshot victims.

Oberlin Police Chief Will Seek Dope Suppliers

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Police Chief Robert K. Ferber says he will seek to bring alleged narcotics suppliers to Ohio from New York City and California to face charges of furnishing marijuana to Oberlin College students.

Ferber said Tuesday his department has identified the persons who allegedly supplied marijuana to two coeds and a male student in New York early in March.

The three were among six students arrested Monday as the result of a two-month investigation here.

Four of the six pleaded innocent in municipal court and were released on bonds of $2,000 each.

The four, all 18, are Thomas A. Schwartz, Lakewood, charged with possession of marijuana; Frederick A. Trippi, Greenwich, Conn., sale of marijuana; David G. MacFarland, Trenton, N. J., sale of marijuana; and Richard Mansfield, Chicago, sale of marijuana.

Susan E. Stowell, 18, of Highland Park, Ill., previously was arraigned on a charge of possession of marijuana and was released on $2,000 bond.

All five have preliminary hearings set for June 6.

The sixth student, a 17-year-old Nyack, N. Y., girl, is to appear in juvenile court Saturday with her parents.

Kent Instructor Asked To Think Over Resignation

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The Kent State University Faculty Senate wants Spanish instructor Robert L. Pitts to reconsider his resignation, which was followed this week by Negro student demonstrations.

The Faculty Senate urged Tuesday also that provision should be made for Pitts, a Negro, to devote a larger portion of his time to student counseling.

Pitts resigned last week, turning down an offer of a 20 per cent pay boost to $8,200 a year.

Pitts reportedly had asked $10,000, including a full-time teachers' pay and part-time pay for counseling.

The senate held a special session to consider the matter after up to 100 students staged a peaceful, 15-hour sit-in in university facilities.

Defense Lawyers Outline Case In Dr. Spock Trial

BOSTON (AP)—Defense lawyers outline their case today on behalf of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others accused of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

The government rested its case Tuesday against the five defendants after 30 prosecution witnesses testified in the seven-day trial.

With the conclusion of the government's case, the defense offered motions for dismissal of the charges or a directed verdict of acquittal. Attorneys said these were denied by U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford in a conference in his chambers.

The 65-year-old pediatrician is on trial with Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber were present, is one of several incidents upon which the government bases its indictments. The prosecution said the cards burned that day were among those turned in four days later at a rally at the Justice Department in Washington. All five defendants were present at the second rally.

Mrs. Harmon, a trim brunette, identified the card as belonging to Stanley N. Griffith, a registrant of the board. She also identified him as the youth whom a photograph showed holding a card in the direction of a lighted candle at the church.

Suddenly, Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wall motioned to a marshal standing at the courtroom door. A neatly dressed youth entered the room and was escorted to the edge of the jury box.

"Do you know this man?" asked Judge Ford. "Yes," Mrs. Harmon said. "Who is he?" "Stanley Griffith," she replied. Griffith was whisked from the courtroom as quickly as he was brought in.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A Dog's Life Isn't Bad

The 27-year-old David Seltzer is head of program development for Wolper Productions because he's nuts about dogs and most other animals, too.

Hal Humphrey

You see his "written by" credit on NBC's special, "It's a Dog's World," which is due for a repeat airing next Tuesday (it was first seen Nov. 25, 1966). The program is narrated by Loren Greene and goes back to the beginning of the man's best-friend relations with dogs.

"I WAS in New York City doing some writing for 'I've Got a Secret' when I read that Wolper was doing this special on dogs, and I put in a call to him in Hollywood right away. I figured that if he wouldn't hire me to write about dogs, I might as well quit writing altogether," recalls young Seltzer.

He owned five dogs at that time (now there are seven Seltzer dogs) and knew he was an expert. He didn't get Wolper on the phone but left a message, and three days later Wolper's assistant Julian Ludwig called Seltzer back to ask what he wanted.

"By that time I'd lost my nerve and gave Ludwig the most negative pitch you've ever heard, but he listened and told me one of the producers, Alan Landsburg, who was doing the dog show would be in New York soon and talk to me."

LANDSBURG became so sold enough on Seltzer to commission him to write an outline, which he did so well that he got the job of writing the show. Later Landsburg confided in Seltzer that what most impressed him at the original interview was the fact Seltzer's suit was covered with dog hair.

After "It's a Dog's World," Seltzer was assigned to do "The World of Horses," which was broadcast later and also narrated by Greene (Ben Cartwright of Bonanza). The recent (May 14) "Big Cats, Little Cats" special seen on NBC with Greene also was done at Wolper's but Seltzer had nothing to do with it.

"I couldn't face another animal film after the dogs and horses, and I didn't want Wolper to get the idea I wasn't interested in people, too," says Seltzer.

HIS NEXT assignment was a National Geographic show, "The Lonely Dorymen," and now he's been assigned to write a series of Wolper specials starring movie star Bill Holden in Africa, where Holden spends six months of every year.

"After a half hour of give-and-take conversation with Holden in Wolper's office about animals, we established a genuine rapport. I usually have trouble convincing people of my ability because of my youth, but I got the Holden series and the first three already have been sold to a network.

Next July, Seltzer and Holden will begin production of the series in Kenya, where Holden is a major stockholder in the Mount Kenya Safari Club. Seltzer assures anyone listening that Holden's interest in Africa goes far beyond the club, however, and that he has the only really working ranch in Kenya experimenting with the domestication of wild animals, a necessary development if Africans are to be saved from starving ultimately.

THE FIRST FILM Seltzer and Holden plan is about a tribe of Africans living on the shores of Lake Rudolph in Kenya, and who were starving because their religion forbade their eating fish. A missionary finally helped solve their problem by getting the tribe to trade their fish for meat with another nearby tribe.

All of this is a long leap for young Seltzer, who was about to give up his writing career after four years of what he called on-and-off writing for comics, like Steve Allen and Garry Moore.

His love of dogs finally led him to what he considers the Promised Land—writing and producing his own films, which he'll be doing for the Holden series.

If he can cut this at 27, there's no telling where this David Seltzer will go.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I "stretch" a can of soup?

A.—By adding a can of bouillon or consommé to any canned soup, then diluting as usual with water or milk. You'll enjoy the added flavor, too.

Q.—Is there anything I can do about a marble surface that has become etched by acids from fruit or other causes?

A.—Try smoothing with the finest grade of sandpaper obtainable, then polishing with putty powder or jeweler's rouge.

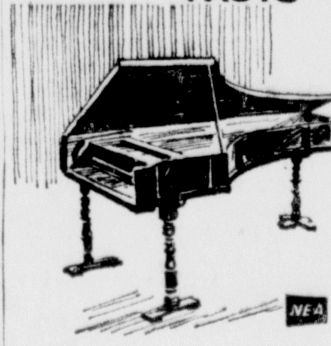

Q.—How can I improvise a shoe horn when putting on a close-fitting shoe?

A.—By laying one corner of a handkerchief into the shoe, gripping the remaining portion of the handkerchief firmly, and using the same as a shoe horn.

Q.—How can I clean my foam rubber powder puffs?

A.—Try "washing" these with cold cream instead of detergent. Not only is this an easier method, but it will also make the puffs softer and fluffier.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The piano, or pianoforte, was invented during the first quarter of the 18th century by a Florentine harpsichord maker, Bartolomeo Cristofori. Cristofori called his new instrument "gravi-cembalo col piano e forte," or keyed psalteries with soft and loud. The pianoforte (literally soft-loud) differed from the harpsichord in allowing the performer to vary the volume of tone by varying the touch.

Music experts say that the marimba is neither of American Indian nor of Spanish origin. Because it resembles the native African limba in tone and name, the accepted theory is that a Negro slave from Africa made the first one, using gourds as sounding boxes.

U.S. Given Criticism In World Press

LONDON (AP)—The United States got a going over in the world press last week, with foreign pundits accusing Americans of lack of interest in events abroad and lack of knowledge about poverty at home.

John Pilger, roving reporter of the London Daily Mirror, came to the conclusion that "to be poor in America is to be un-American."

"To most middle-class Americans, the poor and their distress are unknown," said Pilger. "If an ordinary white family is not eating its fill, then the cause is obviously drink or lack of ambition."

Louis Heren of the Times of London finds that the American presidency makes sense "only when it is seen to be a latter-day version of a British medieval monarchy...as it existed for a century or more after the signing of the Magna Carta in 1215."

Dail Sketch writer Sarah Drummond decided after a visit to New York that "New York girls aren't a patch on London girls fashionwise."

"They dress too conventionally, and all too like mamma," she said. "Who wants to look elegant at 18?"

West Germany's Frankfurter

Rundschau denounced the recent rejection by the U.S. Senate of a proposal to ban mail order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Citing the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the paper charged that a powerful arms lobby sways legislators in Congress and manages to shelve attempts to place tighter control on the sale of firearms.

Japanese correspondent Shumon Miura, after a recent swing through the United States, declared that American newspapers were "shockingly indifferent to events outside their own shores."

Writing in Asahi Shimbun, Miura, said: "The moment I arrived in a small U.S. town for a two-months' visit, I became dissatisfied with local newspapers, principally their small attention to big international news."

English Reviews Progress

Parking To Be Problem During Pottery Festival

One of the major problems facing the Tri-State Pottery Festival organizers is parking space. H. Jud English, steering committee chairman, told members of the Rotary Club during a noon meeting Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

There probably will be sufficient space during the event June 20-22 for area residents, English continued, but accommodations will have to be arranged for outside visitors.

Suggested solutions from club members included arranging a shuttle bus service from the outer limits of the city, such as Westgate, to the festival areas; a ferrying system across the river to the pottery plants at Chester and Newell, and an offer from Mike Turk to donate parking space.

Relative to the ferry system, English said they had considered renting a Gateway clipper from Pittsburgh or towboats to pull barges across the river, but nothing has yet materialized in this area.

The load limits on the bridges make it difficult to transport groups touring the potteries by bus, English explained.

English said the committee would like to have about 12 prizes to be given away during the event. If a businessman would be willing to contribute something along this line, the committee would be glad to defray some of the expense, he said.

In general, the plans are coming along fairly well, English pointed out, with the project being supported by 22 area clubs and several businesses.

Events of the three-day festival include pottery displays, union craftsmen working at exhibits, visits to local potteries (by arrangement), art and antique show, rose show, carnival rides, musical entertainment, souvenirs, displays in store windows and a decorated downtown street mall.

High Bonds Set By Judge In Dope Case

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio A judge said he purposely set high bonds Tuesday for 12 persons arrested in a narcotics raid because "this is a serious charge and I want the bond to reflect the seriousness of the situation."

Bonds totaling $92,500 were placed against the 12-arrested in a massive raid in this college community Monday night - by Greene County Judge Reynold C. Hoeftlin.

"According to Ohio law, breaking the narcotics provisions is second only to murder. Since it is that serious I plan to make the bonds high," said Hoeftlin. Eight received bonds of $10,000 each.

Another defendant arraigned Tuesday-Phillip L. Partee, 27, Yellow Springs - was released on his own recognizance because of his physical condition. He underwent a kidney transplant operation in January, receiving a new organ from his brother, James, 24.

Partee and the other 12 were arrested in raids by the Greene County Sheriff's Department and federal agents. All were charged with selling or possessing narcotics, except William A. Geitz, 21, an Antioch College student from Yellow Springs, charged with possession of LSD, a misdemeanor. He received the lowest bond, $500.

Another arrest was made Tuesday on a warrant. Arrested was George E. Hudson, Portland, Ore., an Antioch student. He was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of selling.

Sheriff Russell A. Bradley said an additional 14 warrants have been issued for the arrests of others allegedly part of a dope ring in Yellow Springs.

Of the 14 arrested so far, six were identified as Antioch students. The others are Yellow Springs residents.

Preliminary hearings are scheduled for June 3-4.

Sheriff Bradley said the Monday raid climaxed an 18-month investigation, most of it undercover work by deputies who made several purchases.

Deputies Investigate Burglarizing Of Home

LISBON - Mrs. George Brewer of Route 30 near Crockery City Farms found her home burglarized about 2:25 p. m. Tuesday when she returned after being away since noon.

Sheriff's Deputy Kent Garvey said someone apparently kicked open a door at the northwest corner of the dwelling.

Mrs. Brewer said the intruder took a portable television set, two transistor radios, a coffee pot, teapot and tea kettle equipped with burner, a box of silverware - some pieces initialed "MCC" and some "B".

Heart Attack Fatal

CHICAGO (AP) - Lenox R. Lohr, 76, a former president of the National Broadcasting Co. and president of Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Lohr headed NBC from 1935 until 1940 when he became president of the museum on Chicago's South Side lake shore.

Living Costs Jumped .3% During April

WASHINGTON (AP) - Living costs, led by sharp price increases for food and clothing, rose three-tenths of one per cent in April and were four per cent above a year ago, the government reported.

Prices were also higher last month for housing, medical care and a broad range of consumer services, said the Labor Department.

Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the new price increases supported the warning of Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that the nation's economy is headed for more serious trouble.

The April price increases pushed the consumer price index to 119.9. This meant it cost $11.99 in April for typical consumer goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

At the same time, the wholesale price index for farm products, processed foods and industrial raw materials rose one-tenth of one per cent of 108.3.

Chase said most of the price increases resulted from strong demand and higher wages, and that the prospects were for a continued increase.

The bureau also reported that average wages for some 45 million rank and file workers rose two cents an hour to $2.79 in April and weekly earnings hit a record high of $104.63.

The weekly pay average was 15 cents higher than in March, but the purchasing power of the average worker dropped 13 cents a week because rising prices more than offset the wage gains.

Most of the April food price increases were for fresh fruits and vegetables. Lettuce prices were up 36.5 per cent, onions 22 per cent, apples 5 per cent, grapefruit 4.5 per cent and tomatoes 3 per cent.

Medical care costs rose five-tenths of one per cent in April, housing was up three-tenths and used cars were up 2.7 per cent - about double the expected rise.

Aspirin is the most widely used of all medicines in the world.

Group Reviews New Standards, Education Needs

The new minimum Ohio secondary education requirements and how East Liverpool schools will attempt to meet them were discussed at a meeting of community representatives Tuesday night at Westgate School.

Robert Harris led the program, which included a review of the requirements by Knute Wiegand, School Supt. Paul Blair and Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent, outlined proposals to meet the standards and other improvements recommended to elevate the education program.

The city system will have to provide broadened guidance service, a general driver education program, add new equipment and expand other operations under the new standards.

Additional programs to upgrade the quality of the education also were discussed, along with financial needs in line with the proposals.

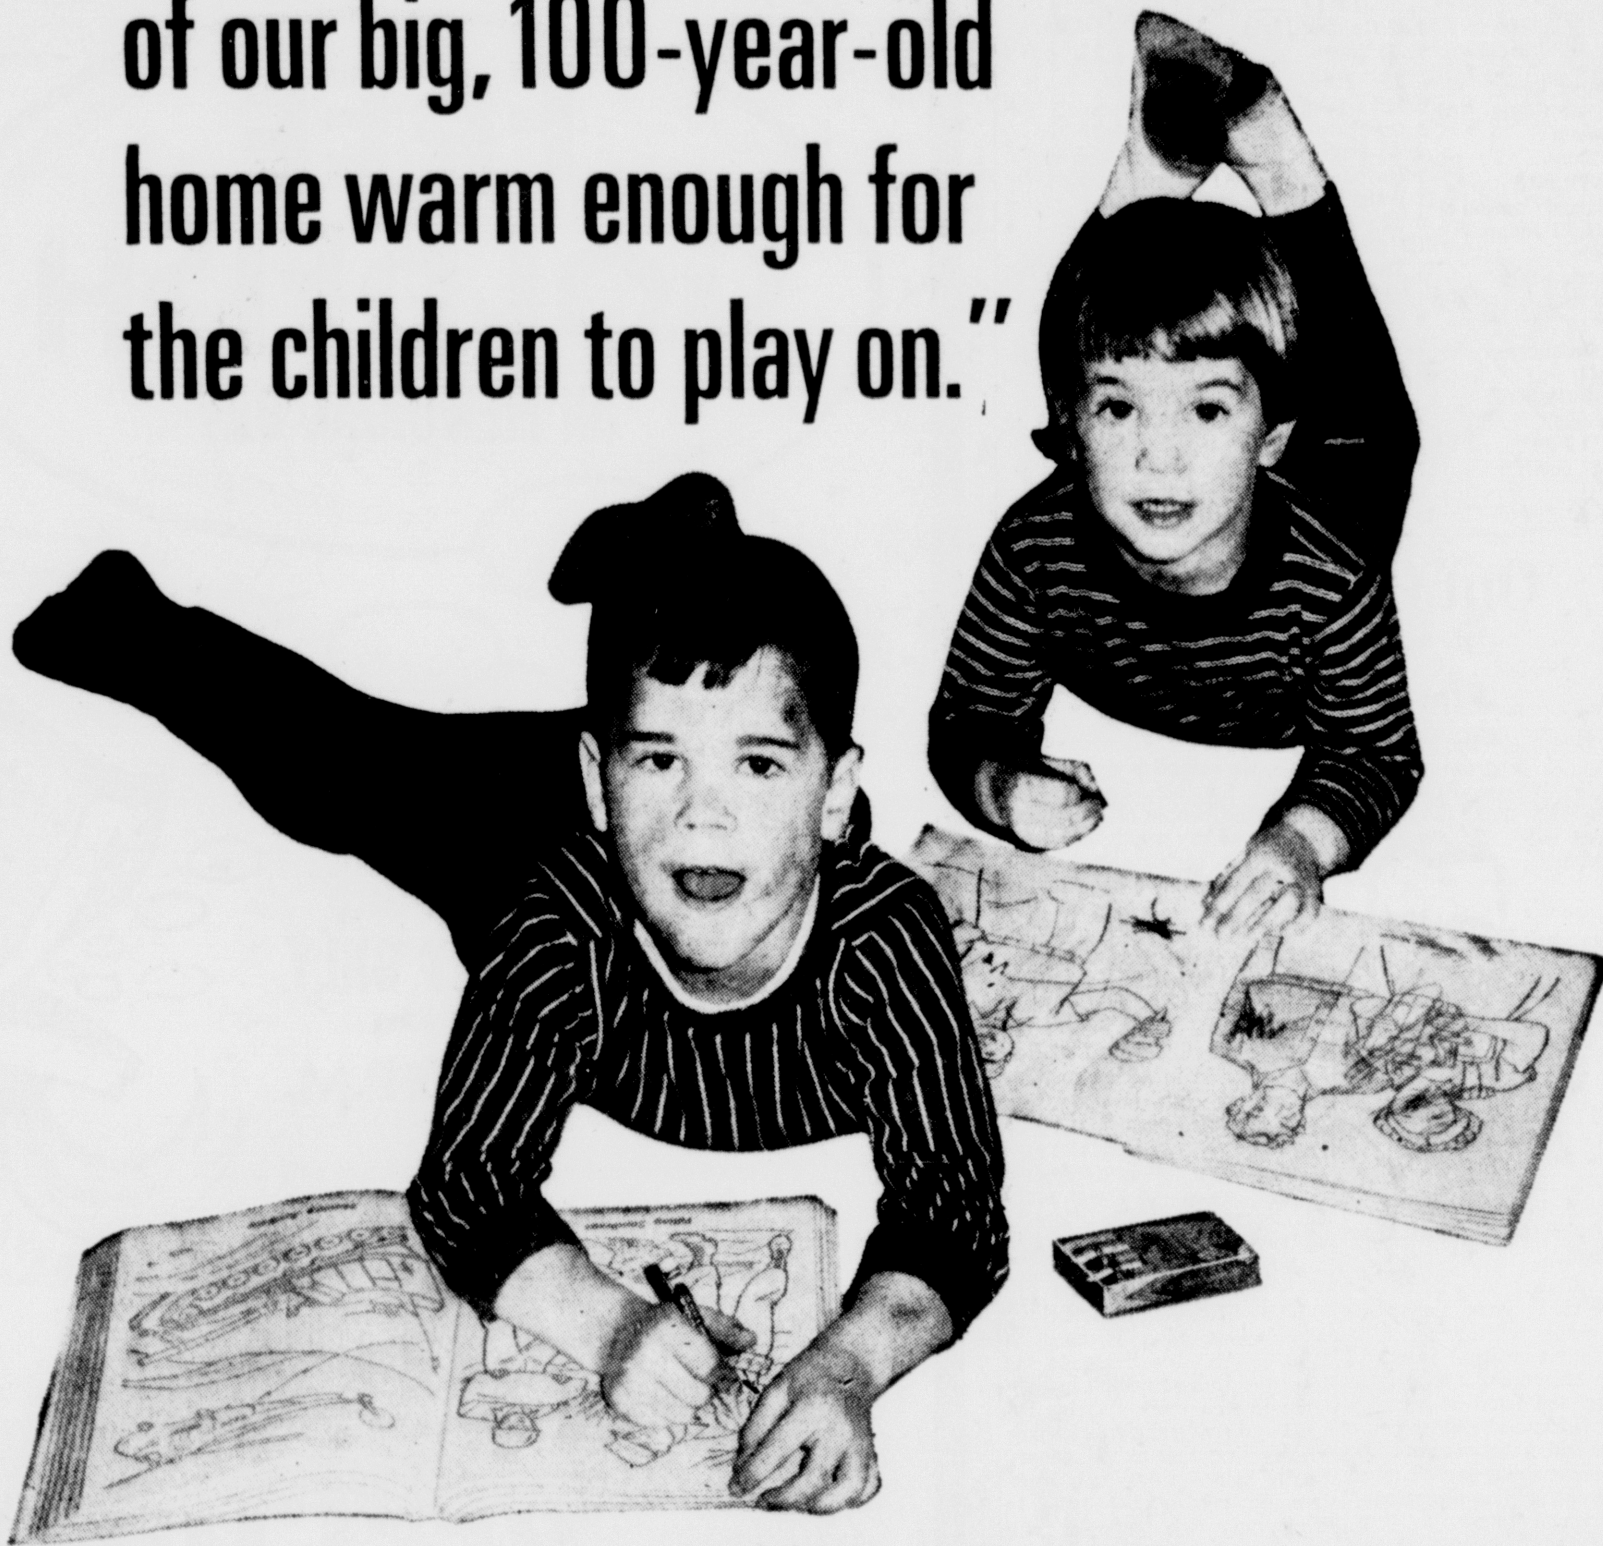

Recommendations by the community representatives are to be studied at another meeting June 18 at Westgate.

Noted Painter Dies

MONTE CARLO (AP) - Kees Van Dongen, 91, friend and contemporary of Picasso and Matisse and one of the last painters of the golden age of Paris art, died Tuesday. A portraitist, Van Dongen was born in Rotterdam but became a French citizen in 1929.

Mr. and Mrs. Matley Swales of Fremont say:

"For less than $20 a month, electric heating keeps the floors of our big, 100-year-old home warm enough for the children to play on."

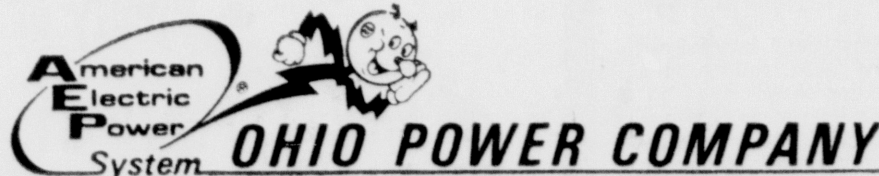

"Electric heat just couldn't be better," exclaims Mrs. Swales.

"It really keeps the entire house warm and comfortable, even the floors. And it costs less to operate than the estimated amount."

The Swales converted to electric heating a couple of years ago when they bought and remodeled their century-old, 8-room home. Now they pay less than $34 a month to keep it comfortably warm, to heat water, refrigerate and cook, wash and dry clothes, and do hundreds of other jobs around the house.

Mrs. Swales thinks flameless electric heating is a bargain and "so clean...I know because our white walls and woodwork stay white!" Comfort, cleanliness, and economy - all with electric heating. Call Ohio Power for a free, no-obligation estimate of how little it would cost in your own home.

The choice of San Diego and Montreal as expansion sites by the National League was somewhat of a surprise.

San Diego was expected. There are more than enough people in Southern California to support three teams, but more important, a major league stadium already exists in San Diego.

It was no surprise that Dallas-Ft. Worth was turned down, even though the population meets the requirements. Judge Roy Hofheinz didn't want another team in Texas and since a unanimous vote was needed . . . Dallas was left out in the cold.

Buffalo never really had a chance. The population of the area is not enough, there is no adequate stadium at present. War Memorial Stadium, where the Bills of the AFL play, is a monstrosity barely adequate for football, and the racial turmoil of last summer helped the lock on the door for Buffalo.

The surprise is the choice of Montreal over Milwaukee. Montreal has no adequate stadium, and while there are over a million people living in the city, the interest in baseball was so sparse that an AAA club was not supported. Also, the climate is such that even in mid-summer it is chilly at night games.

SO WHY WAS Milwaukee by-passed. The obvious answer is that there has been an agreement by the Chicago White Sox, despite denials, to move the franchise to Milwaukee next season. Milwaukee is a great baseball town. Few towns have supported their team as consistently as Milwaukee did the Braves from 1953-1965. Only in the last season, when the Braves had "lame-duck" status, did attendance fall under 1,000,000. There is a major league stadium ready and waiting. The reason given by the Braves for leaving Milwaukee was lack of TV markets, but now the game of the week telecasts split up the TV revenue.

No matter where the franchises are next season, there will be 24 of them, and this brings up more questions. The American League has decided on a split into two divisions, with inter-division play and a playoff for the league championship. There are numerous critics of this plan, for numerous reasons. The National League has not yet made up its mind about how it will set up its 12 teams. A 12-team league in one division could get mighty dreary for the fans of the 12th-place team.

The best solution, but one that probably won't be adopted, would be three leagues of eight teams each. This was advocated by Branch Rickey and Bill Shea in 1960, and should have been done then. Forming whole new leagues, such as the AFL or the Western Division of the NHL, makes for even competition, instead of misfits like the Mets, Astros, Senators, Angels, Falcons or Saints.

Instead of forming a third eight-team major, the existing majors leaped into expansion, and weak teams resulted. Another bad result was unbalanced schedules, which led to asterisked records by Roger Maris and Maury Wills.

SO NOW THE majors have a chance to balance things again. If the eight expansion teams were put into one league, the level of competition would be more-or-less even (the Mets might be favored to win the pennant), and the 154-game schedule could be resumed. Each of the established teams would get two more home dates against each of the other established teams, which should please them.

Fans in Montreal, San Diego, Seattle and Kansas City would still get to see major-leaguers like Jim Fregosi, Bobby Knoop, Nolan Ryan, Jerry Koosman, Tom Seaver, Jim Wynn, Rusty Staub, Frank Howard and Camillo Pascual, plus whoever goes in the expansion draft.

But this is a sensible solution, and baseball hasn't done anything sensible since, since — when was the last time it did something sensible?

In Ohio Track Classic

Star Schoolboy Sprinters Tangle Again Saturday

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Rob Ware and Jim Harris, the state's fastest schoolboy stars, tangle again Saturday when more than 150 runners and jumpers vie for honors at the fifth annual Ohio Track Classic.

Mansfield's all-weather track will be the setting when the 16-event program unfurls at 1:45 p. m.

Ware, who led Cleveland Glenville to its fourth straight Class AA state high school championship here last weekend and Harris, who came within an eyelash of winning it for Dayton Roth, are the headlines of the attractive event.

The brilliant sprinters are expected to repeat their stirring duel of last Saturday when Harris edged Ware in the 100 before Bullet Bob came back to nip Harris in the 220 in a photo finish.

Harris, who also won the 440 and scored all of Roth's 16 points, won't be competing in the 220 in the Classic.

The Dayton flash carved a niche in Buckeye schoolboy history when he clocked 9.5 seconds in the century, shattering the 35-year-old state meet record of 9.6 set by fabled Jesse Owens.

Bot' Ware and Harris were timed in 21.3 in the 220 but Ware hit the tape first.

The dream field Saturday includes all Class AA and A state kings which means that Ware and Harris could get some stiff competition, particularly from small school flash Gary Lindstedt of Kent State High.

Perry Yields Two Cardinal Safeties

By HAL ROCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney made the baseball do tricks and Gaylord Perry turned in some sleight of hand too. But the antics one of Dave Giusti's pitches went through topped them all.

Giusti sabotaged an otherwise strong job with a costly error that allowed one run to score and set up another in Atlanta's 3-1 victory over Houston Tuesday night.

Cincinnati's Maloney hurled a sharp one-hitter, blanking Los Angeles 7-0 and Perry of San Francisco finished with a two-hitter and a 3-1 victory over St. Louis.

The only other National League games scheduled—New York at Pittsburgh and Chicago at Philadelphia — both were rained out.

Houston was leading Atlanta 1-0 in the fourth inning when Sonny Jackson and Hank Aaron opened with singles. Then Giusti delivered a pitch to Joe Torre that was destined to make the rounds of the ball park before it was through.

Torre lined it for a base hit to left, scoring Jackson. Aaron raced for third base and Jim Wynn, Houston's left fielder, threw to Bob Aspromonte, the Astros' third baseman.

But the throw sailed past Aspromonte and as Aaron pulled in safely, Torre broke for second. Giusti, backing up third base, grabbed Wynn's throw and fired to second . . . and right on past second . . . as Aaron scored and Torre advanced to third. Deron Johnson's sacrifice fly brought the third run of the inning across.

That was plenty for Pat Jarvis, who pitched a four-hitter and retired 18 Astros in a row over one stretch.

Maloney, who carried a 4.50 earned run average into the game against the Dodgers, was close to untouchable and the top of the Reds' batting order was just about unstoppable.

Maloney struck out 10 and permitted only a fifth inning single by Zoilo Versalles. The Reds, meanwhile, rapped 13 hits — 12 of them by the first four batters in the order.

Leadoff man Pete Rose had four of the hits and raised his league leading batting average from .351 to .366. Tommy Helms and Alex Johnson had three hits each with Johnson driving in four runs and Helms two. Vada Pinson also had two hits and one RBI.

Bob Gibson sailed through San Francisco's first 15 batters but had his perfect game broken up by Dick Dietz' leadoff homer in the sixth.

One inning later, Ty Cline blooped a single and Willie Mays' unloaded his eighth homer of the year and the 572nd of his career and the Giants had the Cardinals beaten.

Perry allowed a leadoff double to Lou Brock and nothing more until the seventh when Tim McCarver opened with a triple and was stranded at third base.

The game was delayed one hour, 24 minutes at the start, 25 minutes in the seventh inning, and finally ended by rain after eight innings.

Buckeye Race Ends In 3-Way Tie

Rain is the winner in the Buckeye Border Conference baseball race this year.

The scheduled doubleheader today between Jefferson Union and Beaver Local on the Yellowjackets' field could not be played because of wet grounds, and the coaches of Beaver Local, Toronto and JU, whose teams have all posted 5-1 conference records to this point, agreed that no more games would be attempted and the league race would end in a three-way tie.

There are six teams in the league for baseball, so each of the contending schools was able to play only six of 10 scheduled conference games due to the postponements caused by the steady May rain. No trophies will be awarded due to the rainouts and the three teams will go into the record books as co-champions.

THIS FISH GOT AWAY. Chico Salmon of the Indians steals second safely by avoiding an attempted tag by Rod Carew of the Twins in the first inning of the game at Minnesota last night. Twins won 3-1. (UPI Telephoto)

Twins Top Seibert, Indians 3-1

By ED SCHUYLER, Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's Sonny Seibert and Bill Rohr pitched seven hitless innings against Minnesota, but their combined effort was sort of like locking the barn after the horse escaped.

Seibert and Rohr didn't yield a hit from the second through the eighth innings Tuesday night at Minnesota, but the Twins touched Seibert for three in the first when they scored all of their runs in a 3-1 victory.

In other American League action, Oakland edged Boston 3-1. Detroit topped California 4-1 and Baltimore nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 10 innings at Milwaukee. The Washington at New York game was rained out. Minnesota got its first four batters on base against Seibert in the first. John Roseboro doubled and scored on Rod Carew's single. After Harmon Killebrew walked, Tony Oliva doubled in Carew and Killebrew scored on Rich Reese's sacrifice fly.

Seibert then stopped the Twins until the seventh when Rohr took over to complete the nice-going-but-too-late job.

Cleveland scored in the top of the first on Lee Maye's single, a fielder's choice and Tony Horton's double. May and Horton each got three of the seven hits off Jim Perry, who was bailed out of an eighth-inning jam by Al Worthington. It was Worthington's 10th save of the season.

Jim Lonborg, the Cy Young Award winner who broke a leg in a skiing accident, made his first appearance of the season in Boston's losing effort against Oakland.

The big Red Sox right-hander, who was reactivated last week, came in two men out and one out in the sixth and got out of the jam. He also pitched the seventh, yielding one hit and no runs.

Ken Harrelson homered for Boston in the second, but Oakland came back with two runs on Jim Pagliaroni's blast in the bottom of the inning.

The Athletics also scored in the sixth on two walks and Joe Rudi's double.

Detroit broke loose for four runs against California's George Brunel in the first inning. Bill Freehan doubled in the first two runs and then scored on Willie Horton's homer.

California got its run in the bottom of the first on two walks and Rick Reichardt's single.

A crowd of 18,748 at Milwaukee saw Baltimore win on Paul Blair's leadoff homer against Hoyt Wilhelm in the 10th.

Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the third when Curt Blefary was hit by a Tommy John pitch and Curt Motton homered. Chicago scored in the fourth on Luis Aparicio's single, a balk, fly ball and wild pitch. The White Sox tied it in the fifth on Duane Josephson's homer.

John, who allowed only two hits in eight innings, strained a hamstring muscle in his right leg when he fell and rolled over at base while attempting to avoid a tag.

Agreement May Be Near

AFL Players, Owners Negotiating Smoothly

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — American Football League owners and players appear to be working considerably more harmoniously than the National Football League toward achieving agreement on players' requests. There are indications that an AFL agreement may be near.

This summation, coming out of another AFL negotiating session here Tuesday, as in contrast to negotiations going on in the National Football League, where owners have termed players' demands unreasonable and talk of a strike has sprung forth.

"We've made satisfactory progress," Joseph Robbie, president of the Miami Dolphins and chairman of the AFL owners committee, said Tuesday after the third AFL negotiation session here.

Robbie is a Minneapolis attorney, and the meeting was held in his offices.

Both Robbie and AFL Players Association President Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills stressed the harmonious relations thus far in the AFL talks. Both also stressed the private aspects of the AFL negotiations.

"We're not going to discuss these things at all publicly," Robbie said. "We're going to reach agreement first and then disclose what we've agreed to do."

"It's not our practice," said Kemp "to take a public posture on issues. We're trying to take a business approach. Our requests are rather general and we don't want to go out on a limb with definite statements."

Triple Crown Possible

Forward Pass Favored, Dancer's Image Retired

By ED SCHUYLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Henry Forrest knocked on wood for continued good fortune for Forward Pass. A few hours later the luckless racing career of Dancer's Image ended.

Forrest performed his wood-knocking ritual Tuesday while on his way to watch Forward Pass gallop, and it occurred after the veteran trainer told an observer that all was going well in preparation for Saturday's Belmont Stakes.

Near noon, Peter Fuller, owner of Dancer's Image, appeared before a group of newsmen in the Belmont Park stewards' theater and said:

"It is with tremendous regret that I announce that Dancer's Image has run his last race. He will not be able to start in the Belmont."

So Dancer's Image is gone from the races, and the impact his exploits made on the sport will lessen but never disappear. Victory in the Kentucky Derby followed by disqualification when a post-race test showed an illegal medication in the colt's system.

—Third in the Preakness followed by disqualification for interfering with two other horses in the stretch drive.

—Now sudden retirement for the gimpy-ankled gray just three days before the much-discussed continuation of his duel with Forward Pass in the 1½-mile Belmont, the third jewel of the most controversial Triple Crown series in history.

A victory in the Belmont would make Forward Pass the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948.

The Calumet Farm colt's principal rivals in Saturday's race now appear to be Mrs. Adele Rand's Call Me Prince and Greentree Stable's Stage Door Johnny.

Unknown Golfers Getting More Wins, Money, Fame

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The unknown soldiers of pro golf—who used to march unnoticed by Armie's Army—renew their campaign Thursday to take the play and the pay away from the big names on the tour.

Arnold Palmer still packs in the crowds, of course, although some members of his "army" have thrown their allegiance to Jack Nicklaus.

Doug Sanders, Gary Player, Don January, Bob Goalby and other tour veterans also will have plenty of backing when the $115,000 Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament starts.

But no longer do the big shots on the tour go into a tournament assured of pocketing the lion's share of the purse. Brash youngsters such as Bob Lunn, Mac McLendon, Tommy Shaw, Steve Reid and Tony Jacklin have accepted the challenge with surprising success this year.

Palmer, still the king to most golf fans, hasn't won a tournament since the winter season.

Nicklaus is still looking for his first victory in 1968, and so is Doug Sanders, once the hottest spring player on the tour.

Player has not claimed the top prize in an American tournament since he won the 1965 U.S. Open. Goalby won the Masters last month, and January took the Tournament of Champions, but the youngsters have been fighting back.

Reid won the Azalea Open, Shaw led the Pensacola Open for two rounds and established himself as one of the gallery favorites, and Jacklin claimed the Jacksonville Open crown.

"I think the reason nobody dominates the tour like they used to," said Shaw, personable assistant club pro from Golf, Ill., "is because of all the prize money."

"All the good amateur golfers who used to become insurance salesmen take a look at that money and decide to try pro golf," Shaw said. "If they put together four hot rounds they can win a bundle."

Worthington Recording Twin Saves

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Worthington's life is bound up in the techniques of saving.

The 39-year-old relief pitcher picked up his 10th mound save Tuesday night when he relieved Jim Perry and protected the Minnesota Twins' 3-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians by retiring all four men he faced.

Ageless Al also is deeply involved in Christian evangelism. When youngsters ask for his autograph, he presents them with a small card.

On one side is his picture, properly autographed. On the other side is an inspirational message telling of Worthington's personal dedication to his religion.

Worthington is off to such a fast start in recording baseball saves that he may set a record for this relatively new diamond statistic, which has been compiled only since 1963.

A relief pitcher who pitches a perfect final inning and protects a two-run lead or pitches two or more innings and finishes a game in which his team has a three-run lead gets a save. The same is for a relief pitcher who faces the tying or winning run in a game won by his team but in which he does not get credit for the victory.

Worthington has saved 10 of Minnesota's 23 victories this season. His club record is 14 — in both 1964 and 1965 — and in his four years-plus with the Twins he has notched 53.

Betty Madden Leads Ladies At E. Palestine

Betty Madden had the low net score in the 'A' flight at the East Palestine Country Club ladies golf league yesterday.

Ethel Meeks led the 'B' flight, Betty Lundy the 'C' flight and Nancy Hill the 'D' flight. There was a luncheon served after play, with Mary Sisley chairman and Joell Brown and Betty Shields assisting.

In a previous outing of the league, Patsy Burns had low gross, Pearl Scott had the longest drive on number one, Louise Hoffman had the longest putt on number three, Anne Lange won the blind bogey and Betty Shields and Helen Morris had chip-ins.

Burbicks Wins Little League Saturday Game

Burbicks outlasted Medics 10-7 in a Little League game at Thompson Park Saturday.

Al Loker was the winning pitcher and Bruce Staley the loser. Dick Chema slammed a three-run homer for the Medics and added a double. Jeff Martin also had a double for the losers. Buddy Gregory had a triple, Galen Corbett a double and Rudy Jones and Dave Jackson two hits each for the winners.

Notre Dame de Paris rests on a spot at the upstream end of the Ile de la Cite, an island in the Seine River, in Paris.

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Dooley, a 38-year-old businesslike chap with horn-rimmed glasses, Tuesday succeeded George Halas as coach of the Chicago Bears.

Halas, 73-year-old National Football League pioneer and the only owner the Bears have had, stepped down as head coach after 39 years at the job Monday.

Halas followed his surprising announcement of quitting the coaching ranks by his not surprising selection of Dooley as his successor.

Dooley has been a member of the Bears for 16 years. A graduate of Miami, Fla., Dooley became a star receiver with the Bears before becoming a coach and gradually worked his way up as Halas' No. 1 aide.

Dooley, who started out as an end coach, became heir apparent to the job two years ago when he replaced George Allen as defensive coach. Allen had left the Bears under a court-challenged protest by Halas to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

DON'T

LET DEATH TAKE THE DRIVER'S SEAT!

Let's face facts. Live drivers are safe drivers. Whether you think you're the world's greatest driver or not, there's always the other guy. The guy who runs the light, who drinks too much, who didn't see the sign. Over the holiday, there are always more of them. And the only way to avoid serious accidents is to be a careful driver. Keep a safe and steady hand on that wheel. If you don't, death can be in your driver's seat, too!

MEMORIAL DAY IS A TIME TO . . . HONOR THE DEAD ————— NOT JOIN THEM

A FEW SAFETY POINTERS

- DON'T PASS ON CURVES OR HILLTOPS
- STAY CALM, REMEMBER THAT TEMPER ROBS YOU OF JUDGMENT.
- DRIVE A MECHANICALLY SAFE AUTOMOBILE AT ALL TIMES.
- TRY DRIVING WITH YOUR LIGHTS ON — IT HAS PROVED SUCCESSFUL.
- DON'T DRIVE AT ALL WHEN YOU'VE HAD A DRINK
- DRIVE WITH CAUTION WHEREVER THERE MAY BE ANY CHILDREN AT PLAY.
- GIVE A SIGNAL FOR EVERY MOVE, AND GIVE AMPLE TIME FOR OTHERS TO ACT.

. . . LET'S FOLLOW THE RULES OF SAFE DRIVING AND STAY ALIVE

IN THE INTEREST OF SAFETY, WE THE FOLLOWING, SPONSOR THIS REMINDER—IF IT PREVENTS THE INJURY OR DEATH OF JUST ONE PERSON WE WILL FEEL WELL REPAID!!

A Junior Editors Quiz About
CANINE INSTINCT

QUESTION: Why do dogs bury their bones?

ANSWER: A wolf-like animal called Tomarctus lived 15 million years ago and is thought to have been the ancestor of present-day dogs, wolves and other wild members of the dog tribe. The ancient wild dogs lived by hunting. Their special ability was to run down larger animals such as deer. They were frequently robbed of their kill by larger carnivores, such as the cheetah in the picture. Apparently the instinct appeared in the dogs to eat the animal killed as fast as possible to keep other animals from getting it. This instinct has lasted to the present day, for most dogs gobble their food as if they were dying of starvation. After eating all they could, ancient wild dogs would bury the rest, trusting to their especially keen noses to find and uncover it later when they were hungry again. So, the modern dog often buries some favorite bone if not in the earth at least under a carpet, so that other animals will not be able to find it. Maybe he feels that some savage cheetah might be prowling around the house trying to rob him, as they robbed his ancestors thousands of years ago.

Debra Joswick of Edgar, Wis., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, is selected for a prize.

ANN LANDERS

A Superstitious Suitor

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé and I have been planning our wedding for several months. We wanted it to be in June but my mother persuaded us to wait until July and be married — on her 25th wedding anniversary.

It sounded like a good idea at the time, but now I'm not so sure.

Last week my mother announced she has tried on her wedding gown and it still fits perfectly. She wants to wear the gown to my wedding and make it a double ceremony, with her and Dad repeating the vows.

I didn't know what to make of it, but Mother assured me that many couples "remarry" for sentimental reasons and she thinks it would be a truly moving experience for us all. Dad was not very pleased but usually he goes along with what Mom wants.

My fiancé doesn't like the idea and has said so. When I told Mother, she accused me of being selfish and not wanting to share the spotlight. If I'm wrong, please tell me and I'll try to make my fiancé see it that way.

Right now I'm so heartsick I'm ready to call off the wedding and elope. — CONFUSED GIRL.

Dear Girl: A bride should not have to share the spotlight with anyone. Discuss this problem with your clergyman and ask him to speak to your mother. If your mother wants to "remarry" your father for sentimental reasons, she should do it on her own time and not horn in on your day.

By Ann Landers

Up A Ladder

Dear Ann: I lost my husband two years ago and have been seeing a very interesting man who joined the firm where I'm a private secretary.

Aaron is excellent company, shares my interests and we're of the same religion. He never married and seems to enjoy my two teen-age children a great deal. Aaron has asked me to marry him but something is holding me back.

He seems to be terribly hung up on superstition. He's turned around in the middle of the block to prevent a black cat from crossing his path. He'll walk across a street to avoid stepping under a ladder. When he drops the salt and pepper shaker he always tosses a few grains over his left shoulder. Recently he passed up a choice apartment because it was on the 13th floor.

Last night we were walking down the street and Aaron was careful not to step on a crack because it would "break his mother's back." (His mother died five years ago.)

Do you think this indicates an unstable mind or is it just ignorance? — GERALDINE OF BILLINGS.

Dear Geraldine: Superstition bears no relation to stability or intelligence. From your description he sounds like a promising prospect. Knock on wood.

Confidentially

To Taken Advantage Of Once Too Often: Who raised these vegetables? Your children are disgustingly selfish and lazy because they never have had to accept any responsibility. Your husband is a pretty good learner, too. So long as you're willing to carry the whole load for these slobos they will be happy to let you do it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

French Revolutionary Group Has No Single Headquarters

PARIS (AP) — Young Frenchmen trying to make a revolution insist they have no single headquarters. If they did it would be the 24-hour-a-day political meeting installed in the Odeon Theater a few blocks from the Sorbonne.

The meeting goes on in the orchestra, boxes and balconies. Behind the scenes—literally—is the headquarters of the Odeon Committee of Revolutionary Action.

"The purpose of the revolutionary movement," it says, "is to create a revolutionary situation...consequently, the only action that is effective and useful to the revolutionary movement is an action of destruction, a permanent fight against the present society."

The committee has no visible chief, and its members do not like to give their names. But leaders are clearly emerging. One is a blond, 27-year-old journalist who wants to be known only by his first name—Alain.

Alain says the committee includes people who belong to several revolutionary parties, Communists among them, but no one is allowed to join as a representative of a party or a trade union. The committee opposes all such organizations as part of the society it wants to destroy.

Similar committees exist at the Sorbonne, at an annex on the Rue Censier and at the University of Nanterre, where Daniel Cohn-Bendit, best known of the student leaders, was a student. He has now been expelled from France.

Young revolutionaries seized the Odeon on the night of May 15. As the last spectators emerged from a guest performance by the Paul Taylor Ballet, an American group, the first small groups of students and actors went in. There was no resistance. Almost at once the nonstop political meeting was on and the committee was at work in the offices.

Someone painted the word "ex" in large letters before the name "Theatre de France" above the arched facade. In the lobby over the old box office a sign says: "The ex-Odeon Theater is no longer a theater, but a revolutionary political speakers' platform."

Entrance is free and the meetings are usually packed, with a long line waiting outside. One reason is that all the Paris theaters and many movie houses are closed, while television is giving nothing but a news program once a day.

Many of the world's biggest cities are almost unknown to Americans. A list of cities with more than a million people includes Lushun-Luta in China, Ahmadabad in India, Novosibirsk in the Soviet Union and Nagoya in Japan.

Senate Action Due Monday

Pennsylvania House OKs Teacher Pay Boost Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — A compromise bill to raise teachers' salaries won overwhelming approval in the House Tuesday night, shortly after the measure was reported from a joint conference committee.

The House accepted the committee's proposal on a vote of 165-12 after defeating a motion to table the legislation.

The Senate delayed action until Monday.

Under the bill the minimum starting salary for teachers would be raised from $4,500 to $5,400 in the 1968-69 school year. In addition, the number of annual $300 increments would be raised from nine to 10.

In the following year, provided money is available, the mandated minimum would be raised to $6,000 with three additional increments.

The first-year cost of the bill was estimated at $44.7 million. It would be financed partly through cuts in Gov. Shafer's proposed $2.1 billion budget.

The second-year cost was projected at $178 million because of the inclusion of a subsidy revision that would benefit all school districts, but in particular Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

In opposing the bill, Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, warned that the measure, as written, would commit next year's legislature to enact new taxes to pay for higher subsidies.

"If you people don't want an income tax next year, you better not vote for this bill today," said Mullen, ranking Democrat on the Appropriations Committee.

House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny, denied that the bill necessarily would lead to new taxes. He said the measure merely stated that the second phase could not take effect until the legislature declared in a joint resolution that the necessary revenue was available.

The $44.7 million to be distributed to school districts for the coming school year would be apportioned either on the basis of a 7½ per cent subsidy increase or $30 per teacher. The option would belong to each district.

The House originally passed a teachers' salary bill that would have cost $54 million the first year. The Senate scaled down the cost to $35 million. Gov. Shafer said he could not approve the House measure, but was expected to sign the compromise.

The committee that drafted the compromise worked nearly two months before finally reaching agreement. The conferees were Sens. Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland, John H. Ware III, R-Chester, and Ernest P. Kline, D-Beaver; and Reps. Donald W. Fox, R-Lycoming, and Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia.

British Figure Dies

NEWBURY, England (AP) — Admiral of the Fleet Sir Philip L. Vian, 73, World War II naval commander of the British assault forces in the 1944 Normandy invasion, died Monday. Vian was best remembered for leading the rescue of 300 British seamen from a German prison ship in a Norwegian fjord in 1940. A year later he commanded the destroyer force which sank the German battleship, the Bismarck.

"The carpenter or plumber or painter, the butcher, the baker, or candlestick maker who would naturally prosper is he who does the same work better than his competitors."
—H. M. Kallen

It's the same for steel producers, too. Staying ahead of the competition means producing a higher quality product, giving better service and faster delivery. People at Crucible's Midland division strive to achieve that every hour, every day. Sometimes it takes a different method; other times new equipment like this new roll grinder helps. Recently installed in the Roll Shop, it grinds rolls to one-half micro, a mirror finish. The result is a higher quality roll which produces higher quality sheet and strip, giving our customers a higher quality product—one of the best ways we know to beat the competition.
